Marion Woman Strangled; Husband Signs Confession

TORNADO SMASHES VICKSBURG. This airview of the Vicksburg, Miss., business area, discloses the damage caused by a tornado that ripped through the city. The Mississippi River canal is in the upper part of photo. At least 30 were dead and 230 injured. Army and National Guard engineers estimated damage to Vicksburg at 25 million dollars.

30 Dead, 230 Hurt as Twister Levels 275 Vicksburg Homes

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Rescue gangs worked in freezing weather today in a grisly hunt for additional victims of Saturday's vicious tornado that took at least 30 lives.

The temperature dropped to 31 degrees in the heatless city.

National Guardsmen on duty built fires from the debris that littered the streets.

The two latest victims died in hospitals today and authorities said at least eight other persons remained on the critical list.

Dawn brought the noise of steam shovels, bulldozers and shovels after a heatless, shivering night for the 28,000 residents.

Hospitals Crowded

Seventy to 75 of the 230 injured were crowded into Vicksburgs' four main hospitals. They were warmed by blankets and electric heaters from the city's homes.

Civil defense and military leaders estimated the damage at 25 million dollars.

An undetermined number were left homeless as the twister destroyed 275 homes and damaged about the same number. In addition, 29 apartment buildings or multiple houses were destroyed. The Red Cross gave this breakdown on other destruction:

Industries, mills, plants destroyed: 17; damaged: 12.

Businesses, stores destroyed: 76; Damaged: 189.

Churches destroyed: 2; damaged: 18.

President Eisenhower last night declared the historic old city a disaster area, authorizing emergency funds to help rebuild 12 blocks of stores, homes and warehouses violently leveled Saturday night.

Today, torn Christmas decorations dangled from lamp posts. One fifth of the city was without electricity. There was no natural gas—the only heating and cooking fuel for most homes. The broken gas main was repaired late yesterday, but city officials feared to turn it on because someone might have left a gas jet open.

Hunt Girl's Body

The search continued through the night for the body of a 17-year-old girl believed buried in the wreckage of a clothing store.

Power shovels ate into the ruins of a dry goods store to reach the body of another 17-year-old, Jack Palermo, last seen bidding two customers good night as he closed the store.

An Army colonel who directed the search said the youth's body was found after hours of constant digging, pinned two floors below the street level under tons of brick and mortar.

Meanwhile, grocery stores donated bread to make sandwiches. Garages and gas stations loaned trucks and wreckers. Volunteers

Alert for Civil Defense Units Called Success

Marion's Civil Defense workers took part in their first statewide drill yesterday afternoon when units throughout Ohio were alerted.

The exercise here was hailed as a success by members of the various groups participating.

Men working with the auxiliary police and the rescue truck team said their members reported to headquarters in good time. The alert was sounded at 3:10 p.m.

Rescue truck workers were reported at their post in about 21 minutes. Auxiliary police were present about 15 minutes after the alert was sounded.

The men reporting were kept at their posts until the all clear was sounded from Columbus, about one-half hour after the alert.

William Luse, commander of the rescue truck team, said the operation was fair, but "could stand improvement." He said the men responded well in view of the fact that this was the first attempt of its kind.

Charles Knachel, head of the auxiliary police, was well pleased with the response of hi men. He reported all but two of the volunteers reported. Of the two not reporting, one was ill, and could not participate.

Seven of the 10 men on the rescue truck squad reported for the alert.

Seeking Fifth Term

Lausche Will Run Again as Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche today announced his candidacy for his fifth two-year term as governor of Ohio.

The governor made the announcement in a prepared statement released by his office.

"I will be a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket at the May primary election," the statement said.

Retirement Out

The announcement put at rest widespread speculation that the governor might run for U.S. senator or possibly retire to private law practice.

Asked by newsmen if there was any special significance in making his announcement at this time, the governor replied there was not.

The governor, who has been in office longer than any other Ohio executive, said in his statement:

"My hope is to further advance the progress which Ohio has made in the last decade in practically every branch of public service. We have a good state and are growing in every respect.

"Our growth excels that of every comparable state in the nation with a few exceptions in the Far West and Southwest. At present practically 300 miles of modern four-lane divided highways are under construction

'Fight Must Go On'

"Racketeering has been fought and substantially destroyed. The fight must to on with increased vigor.

"Substantial advances have been made in caring for the mentally sick, the control of strip mining, the abatement of stream pollution and the conservation of natural resources, but much more can and must be done.

"The State of Ohio is in excellent financial position. It is my hope that the people will permit me to continue making the fight for programs which, in my humble opinion, will inure to the benefit of all Ohioans."

Politicians expected Lausche's announcement to bring a flood of declarations from candidates for other offices.

Picture To Clear

Many aspirants in both parties apparently have been awaiting Lausche's move before declaring themselves.

They look for Thomas A. Burke, former Cleveland mayor appointed to the U.S. Senate by Lausche, to run on the Democratic ticket for the unexpired term of Robert A. Taft, late Republican Senate leader.

A half dozen or more Republican prospects for senator or governor have been marking time to see what Lausche did.

Among the leading prospects were Congressman George H. Bender of Cleveland, former Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland, State Auditor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill of Marietta and President Arthur S. Flemming on leave from Ohio Wesleyan University.

Illness of State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss of Akron delayed a meeting of the party's state committee at which a decision on candidates had been expected. Indications were that a decision might be made this week.

Anti-British Violence Rips Tehran, 2 Killed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranian troops fired into a crowd of anti-British demonstrators at Tehran University today, killing two persons and wounding another.

It was the first public violence in Iran's heavily patrolled capital since Premier Fazollah Zahedi announced Saturday his government had resumed diplomatic relations with Britain.

Thirty demonstrators were arrested.

DEPUTY RAIDS GAMBLERS

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Nine persons were fined $10 and costs by Mayor August Eble here and held in jail 10 hours yesterday as a result of a lone deputy's raid on a gambling spot at Lonny's Lake on Sleepy Hollow road. Dep. Steve Helli said about 30 persons were at dice tables when he poked a gun in a lookout's back and entered announcing: "The place is surrounded."

Boy, Woman Die

Two From Marion Killed in Accidents

A Marion boy and a Marion woman were killed in separate weekend automobile accidents.

The boy, 15-year-old Wray Gordon Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Glenn of 627 Sugar St., was killed in an accident in Delaware County. Mrs. Bernice Temple Murray, 52, wife of Z. G. Murray of 324 S. Main St., died in an accident in Wood County.

5 Killed in Crash

The boy was killed in a two-car collision near Delaware early Sunday morning which left five persons dead and another woman in serious condition.

He died in Jane M. Case Hospital at 1:45 a.m. Sunday, just one hour after the accident was reported to the state highway patrol post at Delaware. The boy was an eighth grade pupil at Edison Junior High School.

He died from brain injuries received when the car in which he was riding struck another which had skidded into the left side of the highway.

Others Killed

The other dead were: Lowell Beddow, 24, of Galena, driver of the car in which the Marion youth was riding; Victoria Borror, 13, of near Sunbury and Betty Jean Burns, 18, of Delaware, passengers in the Beddow car; and Miss Lee Sampson, 22, of Mansfield a passenger in the car driven by Miss Vesta Nasoff, 21, of Mansfield.

Patrol reports show Miss Nasoff's car skidded on a slippery part of U. S. Route 23, one-half mile south of Delaware, into the path of the Beddow car. Beddow was unable to avoid the collision and struck the car broadside in the passenger side.

Miss Nasoff was thrown clear of the automobile and was the only survivor of the crash. However, her condition was reported as "serious" today by officials at the Jane Case Hospital.

Suffer Broken Necks

The two girls and Miss Sampson died as the result of broken neck. Patrolmen said they were dead on arrival at the hospital. Beddow and the Glenn boy both died about one hour after the accident from brain injuries.

Hospital authorities today said Miss Nasoff was suffering from possible internal injuries.

Both cars involved in the accident were demolished, the state patrol said.

Ambulances from the three Delaware funeral homes were used to take the victims to the hospital.

Mrs. Bernice Temple Murray died almost instantly of a skull fracture following the crash of the car in which she was riding about 10 miles north of Fostoria, Sunday at about 9 a.m.

State patrolmen in Findlay said the accident happened on U. S. Route 23, one and one-half miles north of West Milgrove. They said

Body Buried In Dump at Green Camp

Mrs. Violet Elswick Choked in Argument; Bert Elswick Is Held

The body of Mrs. Violet Elswick, 31, of Marion was found buried in debris in the Green Camp village dump Sunday morning.

She had been strangled a few hours before.

Her husband, Bert Elswick, 37, early today confessed he had choked her after an argument, Sheriff Glenn Obenour said. Elswick said the two had gone to the dump in search of a bottle of wine they had hidden there earlier and began arguing over getting an apartment. They had been staying in the tiny house trailer home of William Baker, 57, of Green Camp.

Grabbed Her Throat

He said she hit him in the nose and he grabbed her by the throat. She slumped to the ground, he said, and he discovered she had stopped breathing.

He said he sat there and drank some wine while thinking what to do. He said he couldn't remember anything after that.

Sheriff Obenour said the case is still under investigation and that Elswick and Baker, who were picked up for investigation yesterday, will be questioned further today.

Discrepancies Noted

The sheriff said charges probably will not be filed today. He said there appeared to be discrepancies between Elswick's confession and evidence obtained by investigators for the sheriff's department.

Mrs. Elswick, her husband and Baker were seen together in Marion early Saturday evening, and were together in a tavern in Green Camp later that night.

For the last several days, the three had shared Baker's tiny home on the north bank of the Little Scioto River in the south side of the village. The shack is about 300 yards from the dump, which is located just east of the village on County Road 104.

Mrs. Elswick's body was found about 9:30 a.m. Sunday by a Marion junk man and his son who were picking over the dump, Sheriff Obenour said.

Only Hand Shows

Only her hand was showing above a pile of rocks, tin cans and other debris. She was bare from the waist up, clad only in shoes and blue jeans. She was lying face down.

Her body was removed to the Boyd Funeral Home in Marion where an autopsy was conducted yesterday afternoon.

Dr. E. H. Morgan, county coroner, ruled her death was caused by strangulation. He fixed the time of death at around midnight.

The Elswicks had been living in Marion before moving in with Baker. Apparently, they had been drifting about for some time. Elswick could give the sheriff no home address.

At one time they occupied the tenant house on a farm in Morrow County near the Marion County border.

Mrs. Elswick was arrested and convicted of arson when this house was burned in June, 1951.

Served Two Years

She served a two-year sentenc in Marysville Reformatory for women after her conviction in Morrow County Common Pleas Court.

The fire occurred on June 6, 1951, burning a house located on Route 30-S near its junction with the Martel Road. The owner was Charles Shepherd, who lived nearby.

The Marion County sheriff's office investigated the case until it was discovered that the building was located in Morrow County and

Major Speech Set

Ike To Address U.N. On H-Bomb Threat

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) —President Eisenhower flies direct to New York tomorrow to deliver a dramatic new Western challenge to Russia to join in working out a plan of disarmament and atomic control for a world periled by the hydrogen bomb threat.

With the backing of Britain's Prime Minister Churchill and the French leaders here for the Big Three conference, Eisenhower in a major address to the United Nations General Assembly is expected to suggest a fresh approach to the knotty international atomic problem which has been caught in the vise of a Soviet-Western deadlock for seven years.

Perils of Atomic Age

The announced subject for the speech is "Perils That Confront the World in This Atomic Age." Major radio and television networks in the United States made plans to carry the address.

It is scheduled for 4 p.m., EST

The sudden announcement last night that Eisenhower would address the U.N. caused a sensation dominating the closing rounds of his meetings here with Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel.

The development overshadowed the shift of the talks today to Far Eastern problems, including France's war in Indochina and negotiations for a Korean peace conference, and continuing British-American efforts to press the French for early approval of the rearmament of West Germany.

The Big Three talks were due to close late this afternoon or tonight with a communique summing up the meetings.

Laniel Confined to Bed

Eisenhower will fly to New York tomorrow. The ailing Laniel, still confined to bed with a lung infection, also will fly home tomorrow if he is able.

Churchill will take off for London late Wednesday.

Eisenhower and Churchill, along with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault, at their sessions yesterday completed the drafting of a note to Russia reportedly agreeing

Marion Man Burned in Blast At Auto Garage

A Marion man received first and second degree burns in an explosion and fire which caused an estimated $10,000 damage to a building and its contents, at the rear of 255 N. State St. Saturday afternoon.

Used by Short-Ford, Inc. as an automobile undercoating shop and as a new car servicing garage, the concrete block building was owned by John Moser of the State St. address.

Burned when fumes from the undercoating material reached an open gas heating stove and exploded was Leon Downing, 35, of 1026 N. State St. He was treated at City Hospital for his injuries and later released to his home.

Alone in the building at the time, Downing was in the proces sof undercoating one new car on a hoist in the building. "The first thing I knew I saw a ball of fire at the front of the building," he said. The explosion knocked him down and rolled him into the alley at the front of the building, where fellow employes found him seconds later.

Two other new cars were in the building at the time waiting to be serviced and undercoated. Short Ford employes managed to remove one of the cars, but the two left inside were destroyed.

The west wall of the concrete block building next to a north-south alley was bulged out by the blast and part of the roof of the building was burned away.

At the height of the fire, the flames roared some 40 feet into

Mediators Get Together With N.Y. Publishers

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators came out of surprise talks with union representatives early today and then scheduled new negotiations in the 10-day-old strike against six major daily newspapers.

Walter A. Maggiolo, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called the talks after meeting last night with representatives of the AFL Allied Printing Trades Council, whose members have been refusing to cross picket lines set up by the AFL International Photoengravers Union.

The photoengravers struck the newspapers in a dispute over wages and other contract issues. About 400 photoengravers are involved, and their picket lines have idled 20,000 employes belonging to the CIO American Newspaper Guild and the pressmen's, stereotypers', printers' and mailers' affiliates of the printing trades council, and other unionists.

Yesterday brought two key developments in the strike:

1. Resumption of publication by the New York Herald Tribune, the only one of the city's major newspapers not involved in the engravers' dispute. The Herald Tribune, which stopped publication a week ago in sympathy with the other papers, put out adless Sunday and Monday editions of eight pages each.

2. Spirited activity among representatives of the two sides as mediators twice scheduled joint

GOP Leaders Hoping Storm Will Blow Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said shortly before noon today 17,629 telegrams and an uncounted volume of mail had come in as a result of the appeal by Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) that the public ask President Eisenhower to halt U. S. aid to free world nations which trade with Red China.

Asst. White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said he understood Western Union has a backlog of telegrams possibly totaling 1,700 or more.

Snyder told reporters the telegrams have come inso fast it has been impossible to break them down into those which favor McCarthy's China trade demand and those who support the President's stand.

Meanwhile, Republican congressional leaders maintained discreet silence in the Eisenhower - McCarthy controversy.

It was obvious that some of McCarthy's most influential GOP colleagues agreed privately with his statement that the United States should stop all aid to free world nations which trade with Red China.

But it also was obvious they didn't want to be linked with McCarthy's public challenge to the stand taken by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles that America has no right to dictate countries it helps.

McCarthy called any trade with Red China a "blood trade" and, in a televised plea last Thursday, urged the people who agree to wire or write the President.

The White House was scheduled

Ben Gurion Resigns

JERUSALEM (AP) — David Ben-Gurion resigned today as prime minister of Israel to follow the trail of the Jewish nation's ancient prophets into the wilderness to mediate and rest.

The 68-year-old statesman, premier of Israel since its founding in 1948, submitted his formal resignation this morning and said his goodbys to President Izhak en-Zvi.

Man Confesses Taking $2,000 In Store Goods

A Marion County man has admitted taking merchandise valued at approximately $2,000 from the Montgomery Ward and Company store where he was employed, Sheriff Glenn Obenour reported today. He is being held in the Marion County jail today for investigation.

Also being held for investigation is a Marion woman to whom he gave some of the merchandise, including a television set.

Company officials and investigators were expecting to confer this afternoon with the Marion County prosecutor's office for recommended action as to the filing of charges against the man.

With investigation still in progress, it has not been determined whether or not the woman had any knowledge that the merchandise had been stolen.

Friend Finds Son of Noted Attorney Dead

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bartley Crum Jr., son of the prominent California attorney, shot himself to death yesterday, the coroner reported.

The 18-year-old youth's body was discovered by a schoolmate in a private home where they roomed. He apparently fired a rifle bullet into his forehead.

Young Crum, a student at Reed College here, was described by the coroner as having been "nervous and lonely."

But his father, who was in San Francisco on a speaking tour, said he was unable to explain his son's action. "I saw him only last week and he appeared in good spirits,' the attorney said.

"Who could tell if he was troubled? Parents would be the last to know of those things."

Later, speaking at a banquet for Jewish National Fund, Crum said: "The future of man rests with a little segment of the world in Palestine. In honor of my son, I pledge 1,000 trees to be planted there."

Crum learned of his son's death only 30 minutes before the banquet. The audience, when told later of the youth's death, started a fund for a memorial forest in Israel.

50-Man Army Reserve Team To Blow Up Reservoir Bridge

A 50-man demolition team of the U.S. Army Reserve Corps will move into the Delaware Dam area next Saturday and Sunday. Their object will be to destroy an abandoned brige on the east shore of the reservoir.

The two-ay manuever will combine training of the 413th Engineer Brigade with a service to the state. The partially submerged bridge is a hazard to boaters. It will be destroyed by explosives set by members of the combat team.

Capt. Neale K. Harmon of Fort Hayes in Columbus said half the 200 foot bridge will be destroyed Saturday and the rest on Sunday.

About 50 men in the brigade will participate in the project. Acting as observors and advisors will be supervisors from the Ohio Military District.

Commanding officer of the brigade is Col. Alden E. Stilson. Capt. Harmon is senior bomb disposal officer. He and Maj. A. Gigide will act in an advisory capacity.

The road on whih the bridge is located was abandoned when the dam was filled. Capt. Harmon estimates the bridge is about two miles from U. S. Route 23.

The bridge is made of reinforced concrete and is about eight feet wide. Since the reservoir was filled, it has been submerged almost continuously until this year, when the water level dropped due to the dry weather.

Military police will be assigned to the area to keep spectators from becoming injured when the blasts occur. About 3,000 pounds fo plastic explosives, such as was used in World War II and the Korean War, will be used.

Aged Woman Cancer Victim Refuses Help

STALEY, N. C. (AP) — An aged woman believed dying of cancer still resisted efforts today to get her and her mentally retarded nephew out of their one-room shack.

The 75-year-old widow, Mrs. Mary Mines, has locked herself in and refused all offers of medical aid. W. L. Lednum, police chief of this town about 25 miles southeast of Greensboro, says she has threatened to shoot anyone who tries to enter.

The county sent an ambulance and nurse to her home Saturday but Chief Lednum said Mrs. Mines refused to open the door.

With her is her 36-year-old nephew, George Fox, who Lednum says is unable to feed or dress himself. The police chief says Mrs. Mines once told him she keeps Fox tied with a rope.

Mayor John Staley says that Mrs. Mines promised Fox' mother on her deathbed that she would take care of him all her life.

Mrs. Mines receives about $40 a month in old age asistance, and relatives also help her financially. But they are unwilling to sign papers that would allow authorities to take her by force for treatment.

B47 Stratojet Sets New Atlantic Crossing Record

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A B47 Stratojet bomber flew nonstop from England to MacDill Air Force Base here yesterday in 8 hours 53 minutes, clipping 14 minutes off the old record for the 4,480 miles.

"Aside from strong head winds we encountered no difficulties," Col. William E. Creer of Spanish Fork, Utah, commander of the bomber, said.

CAROLING PARTY PLANNED

BUCYRUS — Youthful members of the Salvation Army citadel here will spend one evening during the holiday season in a caroling party throughout the residential districts with all contributions being used to purchase uniforms for the group's band, Capt. Harriet Schutz, commanding officer of the local unit, announced today. The group's advisory board has named a committee to propose newmembers for the board, Captain Schultz reported. The committee includes E. J. Songer, chairman, Mrs. Fred Kloepfer and Mrs. Warren K. Leuthold.

Big Ohio Cities Conduct Civil Defense 'Alert'

Test Runs Smoothly In Cleveland, Toledo; Dayton Gets Fouled Up

By The Associated Press

Ohio's big cities tried out their civil defense yesterday—and the verdicts ranged from "complete success" to "operation confusion."

For about half an hour Ohio pretended its big cities were being attacked by enemy bombers.

Some things went off like clockwork. Toledo and Cleveland reported "complete success."

But in Dayton it was "operation confusion." The alarm was sounded too soon. Then flustered officials, realizing their mistake, added to the confusion by sounding a secon alarm. Milton L. Gould, a federal CD expert, was sympathetic, though, and said it was very realistic and exactly what I find everywhere."

In Cincinnati airplanes failed to buzz the city and no sirens were sounded. About 150 men were sent to Dayton to help with an "emergency" there.

Most Cincinnatians were unaware of the test. Officials concentrated on communications and said they were good. E. Judson Wheeler, Cincinnati CD director, said, "If we are going to be ready by June we're going to need more support and participation."

Columbus pretended "diaster" had hit 10 areas in the county. Police stopped traffic and directed motorists and pedestrians to shelters.

In a Columbus suburb Santa Claus, on a parade float, cut through a line of speeding, siren-blowing fire engine but was frantically waved to safety by CD workers.

Toledo pretended its "casualties" were 16,800 dead, 10,900 wounded, 87,000 homeless, and that bombs had destroyed four high schools, an art museum, four industrial plants and Swayne Field. Workers "treated" the wounded and lowered a woman from the fourth floor of a downtown building as a demonstration.

Sirens wailed in downtown Cleveland and 8,000 CD workers responded.

It was all pretending—on the day before the 12th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

$100,000 AKRON FIRE

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A blaze swept throughthe American Hard Rubber Co.'s one story brick tiled "dust house" yesterday causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

Mercury Announces New Body Style

A NEW BODY style will be introduced Thursday when the 1954 Mercury automobiles go on display at Marion Lincoln-Mercury Co., 202 S. Main St.

Called the "Sun Valley," the new car features a transparent section of plexiglass on the front half of the roof. A one-quarter inch thick section of the transparent material has replaced the steel in the roof above the front seat.

Tinted green to reduce glare from sun and heat, the new style roof is said to create the illusion of riding in an open convertible, but without the adverse affects of rain, wind, and cold.

Two color combinations are available on the new style car. They are designed to complement the green glass. One combines light and dark green and the other is yellow and dark green.

The material used in the plexiglass is similar to that used by airplanes in the canopy and nose bubbles.

Another feature in all models of the new Mercury automobiles is a ball-joint steering system, connecting the front wheels to the car. This method is designed on the principle of the shoulder-arm socket in the human body.

An up and down movement in the joint absorbs the shock of the road, while a side movement permits easy steering. The number of lubrication points on the new models has been reduced from 16 to 4 by the introduction of the device.

An increase of 36 horsepower in the 1954 Mercury V-8 engines was achieved by changing from the old style L-head valves to overhead valves. The new power is derived without an increase in engine size.

A new four - barrel carburetor system is used for the first time by the Mercury. It is said to improve control of gas-air mixture and yield better performance.

A 40-ampere low speed charging generator and a new starter located on the flywheel have been designed for faster cranking speeds and quieter starting.

Body styling emphasizes a lower, longer and wider appearance. Restyled rear panels, wrap-around bumpers, and new front grille have been designed to give a forward-motion appearance.

Inside, the upper half of the horn ring has been eliminated to give greater visibility of the instrument panel. A key type starter is standard equipemtn on all models.

Offered as optional equipment is warning light to indicate when the emergency brake is on; power steering; power brakes; and a four-way power seat.

Wins Trip to Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jean J. Hixon, an Akron, Ohio, school teacher, will get a free trip to Washington as a prize for superior teaching about aviation. The National Committee to Observe the 50th Anniversary of Powered Flight yesterday awarded the trips as prizes to 151 teachers from nearly every state.

RAILROADER TO RETIRE

CLEVELAND (AP)—After 47 years service with the Nickel Plate Road, J. Hudson Day will retire at the end of this month, the railroad's president, L. L. White, announced today. Day has been vice president in charge of traffic for the past 22 years and will be suceeded in that post by his present assistant, Sylvester J. Witt, a native of Cincinnati and a Nickel Plate employe since 1935.

On the Verge of Reality

Since every steelworker has taken note of the fact David J. McDonald, head of United Steelworkers, has been inspecting U.S. Steel Corp. properties with Benjamin F. Fairless, U.S. Steel's board chairman, many steelworkers will want to take note of a further fact.

At a dinner in Pittsburgh honoring McDonald, Fairless made a speech in which he said steelworkers and management had better get along together or the public will run out of patience with both of them. He said it was an "utterly false" idea that their interests were in conflict.

"For better or worse," he said, "we are inseparably bound together in a state of economic matrimony . . . If unions were to disappear enlightened management would quickly welcome their revival in the interests of orderly and organized bargaining."

This is the No. 1 management figure in America's largest steel corporation talking. He is talking in honor of the No. 1 man in America's key union—the one whose decisions in contract negotiations are so vital they have the effect of national policy.

It has been the dream of many Americans that new-world thinking should supplant old-world thinking in relations between managers and workers; that America sometime might outgrow the class warfare on which generations of European and Asiatic troublemakers have fattened.

The dream has not been shattered. It was brought to the verge of reality for a few seconds while Ben Fairless was speaking in honor of Dave McDonald at Pittsburgh.

The Right To Say No

If there ever was a case that needed to be decided by highest judicial authority it's Harrison County's refusal to accept federal funds so Ohio's other 87 counties can get what's coming to them.

Approximately $3,000,000 earmarked for Ohio is being held up because Harrison County wants no part of federal aid payable to totally disabled persons. The 12 persons who would receive this aid in Harrison County are represented as being satisfied with the help they are getting from general relief funds.

The issue as it shapes up in the minds of the officials speaking for Harrison County is whether or not local government has the right to refuse to accept something it didn't ask for and doesn't want.

But the issue as it shapes up in the minds of the officials who must speak for the state as a whole is whether or not local government has the right to tie up a statewide program by refusing to join it.

Perhaps the real issue is whether the bureaucratic mind can be pried open far enough to let Harrison County forego $20,000-odd a year it doesn't want. Would it be a sin against the public welfare not to spend money?

As things stand now, it would be a sin. Things shouldn't be permitted to stand that way without a judicial review of Harrison County's right to refuse what its representatives say their constituents do not want.

Canadian Rights

Secretary of State Dulles has blocked what could have been an insult to Canadian sovereignty. He will not convey Sen. Jenner's request to ask Canada for the right to publish testimony from Igor Gouzenko without censorship, if Canada so desires.

Canada has not denied the United States the right to ask Gouzenko questions. It has asked only for the privilege of looking over his answers before they are publicized.

Here is an example of misunderstanding caused by lack of information. Canada has permitted Gouzenko to be interviewed freely by the United States through the FBI on several occasions and also by a Senate subcommittee on immigration.

Its refusal to let Sen. Jenner's Subcommittee on Internal Security take testimony from Gouzenko without examining the testimony is, as Secretary Dulles has pointed out, the same decision he would be obliged to make if the situation were reversed.

After Gouzenko, in 1945, revealed the spy ring which had been operating out of the Russian embassy at Ottawa he was rewarded with Canadian citizenship, a pension of $100 a month for life and full and continuing protection by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He and his family have been kept safe under an assumed name.

The Royal Commission of Inquiry which handled the inquiry he opened with his revelations has made available to the FBI much unpublished data. Canada has cooperated with the United States and is willing to continue its cooperation.

An Indiana school official's contention that Robin Hood was a Communist causes a flurry, and we can only be thankful that Friar Tuck wasn't mentioned or we'd be off again on that debate about subversion among the clergy.

Easing Tax Competition

By Raymond Moley

Administration Drafting Cut-Back Measures

Both the new Hoover Commission and the Manion Commission on Federal-State Relations will ultimately come to the real problem involved in cutting back the great federal bureaucracy.

The federal establishment could not have grown so great under two power-hungry administrations without plenty of money exacted from taxes.

While the illimitable power of the federal government to levy income taxes supplied most of the money, there has been a continuous raid by Congress upon the legitimate tax sources of the states.

The process was more than merely robbing Peter to pay Paul, because some of the loot was given back to Peter.

THE FEDERAL government choked off the capacity of the states to perform one after another of their traditional functions by levying competing taxes. Then the states were given back some of the money collected, in the form of grants-in-aid.

This form of federal hand-out has grown enormously in the past 30 years. With its growth, the independence of the states has grown weaker and smaller.

Both of the commissions mentioned above have members who are quite aware of this and who are prepared to press for a real reform in the tax structures of both the federal government and state governments.

CONGRESSMAN Noah Mason has been a pioneer in the fight to rationalize the tax structure, and since he is a member of the Manion Commission as well as of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, his views on this subject will have great weight. In a recent statement he outlined his plan to reapportion tax sources.

He would start with the individual and corporate income tax. In that field he would recognize the preeminent claim of the federal government.

At the present time, 31 states levy income taxes. An aggregate of about a billion dollars is collected by them. But three-quarters of the revenues of the federal government come from income taxes.

MASON WOULD induce the states to repeal their income taxes and be reimbursed by having Congress take the federal government out of a number of tax fields. The federal government could and should let the states have a monopoly of state and gift taxes. That would involve between 700 million and 800 million dollars.

The states raised revenue from gasoline taxes long before the federal government entered that field. At the present time the federal government collects about 500 million dollars in gasoline taxes.

It should relinquish that money and permit the states to build and control their own highways.

THE STATES and some of their subdivisions have fairly well monopolized the sales tax. Mason suggests that this monopoly in the retail field be confirmed by the federal government and that if Congress decides to levy any sales tax it will be a manufacturers' sales tax.

Such a tax would yield a large return and be easy to collect. Unlimited confusion would result from projecting the federal government into the retail sales field.

The federal government should for many reasons repeal all of its admission taxes, which amount to something over 40 million dollars. The states might then take over these levies and perhaps use the proceeds for the support of schools. This should end the agitation for federal aid to schools.

Since liquor and tobacco levies have been a federal concern since the days of Washington, the states should withdraw all levies in that field except the license fees. The latter would be essential to cover the cost of regulation.

The adoption of all these suggestions would not impoverish the federal government. It would establish some order in what is now a state of utter confusion.

Cupful of Adrenalin

By TRUMAN TWILL

It's good to have basketball back again. Here's a game a fan can really get his emotions into without any special instructions.

Things happen rapidly in basketball, and they happen in plain sight. And as in baseball, every spectator considers it his inaleinable right to second-guess the officials.

There are villains, heroes, forces of righteousness and forces of evil. The temperature in the gymnasium keeps rising as blood begins to boil.

By the time it's over, everybody is ready for a shower and a rubdown, though this privilege is reserved for players. This is one of the things basketball fans intend to look into closely in the near future.

It is clear to them—to us, that is—that basketball is unlike any other sport, in that the spectators sit close enough to the players to share in the action.

They—we, that is— can make derogatory remarks about the officials that will be heard. We can even share the gamey goodness of the team towel when the wind's right.

We can advise, propose, reject, praise and expostulate—and we do. That's why it's good to have basketball back again. It's a great outlet for blowing off steam.

I went to my first game this year with a high resolve to be nonchalant about the whole thing. At the close of last season I had reached a stage of lid-flipping which was causing members of my own family to sit apart and look upon me as a stranger.

My specialty had become the abuse of referees, those whistle-tooting werewolves of the hardwood who make a career of denying justice to the heroes on our side and bestowing favors—and points—on the desperadoes of the other side.

It is unfair to these hard-working officials. to say this. It's unfair when it's said about baseball umpires, too, but it's fun. And the umpires rarely hear what's said; they're too far away.

In basketball, though, it's different. The atmosphere is clubby. Tension gathers and breaks like an emotional surf on a rocky shore. Anyone with a bull voice and no inhibitions can make a real pest of himself.

That was me last year—a pest. That was what I intended not to be this year. Everything cool and casual. No red neck. No dirty remarks. A good example for the young. A sportsman to the core.

It went that way for a while. Just before the half the old lid flipped. By the end of the game it was as wide open as the door on a new saloon. I had lost a cupful of adrenalin.

Our heroes won in a garrison finish. At the last moment, the villains in the stripped shirt ceased their foul tactics of uncalled-for persecution and gave virtue its overdue reward.

The villains from afar and the desperadoes who had accompanied them sneaked back home with their ears sagging. Justice had triumphed. Unfortunately, they couldn't see it that way, but it had.

A truly great game, basketball. As soon as they put in showers for the spectators, baseball and football probably will be abandoned. From the standpoint of player participation and spectator interest, basketball already has the inside track.

America Rapidly Outgrowing Resources

By Fairfield Osborn

The writer, president of the New York Zoological Society and of the Conservation Foundation and member of the board of directors of Resources for the Future, has long been in the forefront of America's conservation movement. The following article is taken from a chapter of his just - published book, "Limits of the Earth".

The American economy is fast outgrowing its supply of natural resources . . . Our country is no longer self-sufficient . . .

Vast as are the natural physical endowments of the United States, the fact is that its economy is outgrowing its resource base . . .

We are apt to think of ourselves as a mechanized society wherein metals and minerals play a predominant role. This is not the case.

THE INDUSTRIAL complex of our country will gradually weaken unless we not only maintain but substantially improve our agricultural processes.

Although the over - all position of our forests indicates that replacement growth shows promise of catching up with annual drain, the fact still remains that in one major category, namely saw timber, we are using up that resource at a rate of 40 per cent greater than its annual growth.

We have destroyed one - fifth of the original area of our croplands and are continuing to injure a considerable portion of the remainder by improper agricultural methods.

We are beginning to feel the pinch of water shortages in various parts of the country.

All in all, we are not as yet doing the job in the conservation of these vital resources that will insure the future welfare of our nation.

THE VOLUME and diversity of materials, other than agricultural, required by our immense industrial system, are beyond the comprehension of any individual . . .

The report of the President's Materials Policy Commission, published in June 1952, . . . presents a correlated and over - all picture of how this country stands in regard to its natural resources.

It demonstrates that our country is no longer self - sufficient and emphasizes the extent to which we must rely upon resources obtained from other lands.

It indicates how near we are to the exhaustion of certain resources that are essential to our present economy and standard of living.

The report reviews the trend of resource use and development since 1900.

IT SHOWS that at that time we were producing about 15 per cent more raw materials from our mines, forests, farms and other natural resources than we consumed.

Today, by contrast, our production is running about 10 per cent short of consumption, and this deficit is increasing year by year because of the accelerating rate of our industrial processes, induced in part by the demands of a steadily mounting population.

As to the future, the commission believes that the potent American concept, which it terms the "principle of growth," will and should be a continuing policy guiding the development of our national economy from here on . . .

It is estimated that by the year 1975 the demand for minerals, as a whole, will increase by 90 per cent, for timber products by 10 per cent, for agricultural products by about 40 per cent, while the needs for total energy will double and those for water for industrial use alone will almost triple.

AS TO OUR over-all position, it is recognized that our dependency on the rest of the world will increase considerably and we shall have to look to other countries for about one-fifth of everything, other than food and gold, that we shall require.

As a consequence our production deficit will be double or more what it is today . . .

There is yet another observation in the commission's report that is astounding, "The quantity of most metals and mineral fuels used in the United States since the first World War exceeds the total used throughout the entire world in all of history preceding 1914!"

But can we go on like that? This, of course, is the big question.

One of the thoughts suggested by this situation, is that the United States is now beginning to face circumstances that bear at least some resemblance to those that have seriously affected Great Britain and a number of European countries.

THEIR COLONIAL empires served not merely a political, but largely an economic purpose, and once the flow of resources was checked, the whole concept of "colony" became meaningless.

Vast as are the natural physical endowments of the United States, the fact is that its economy is outgrowing its resource base . . .

No easy prospect faces us . . . We have entered an era when new conceptions regarding the ownership and use of natural resources must be adopted.

Traditional ideas are not good enough, if for no other reason than that they will not work.

Our best, if not our only chance, lies in the encouragement of economic interdependence between ourselves and all other countries in the free world.

This will call for daring and enlightened action and will require sacrifices by individual interests in the matter of modifying protective tariffs and even on the part of all our people in not seeking ever-higher standards of living.

We had better make some sacrifices earlier than have little left later.

We are increasingly, through political and social action, recognizing the values of the share - and-share-alike concept at home. Now, whether we will it or no, forces largely of our own making will require that we apply this concept in our dealings with other people.

Diving Through the Ether

By MARK DANA

Appropriately enough, news dispatches from Los Angeles telling how an airplane flew at twice the speed of sound dwelt more upon details of the swordfish-shaped little craft than upon attributes of the pilot.

The Douglas D-558-II, appropriately dubbed "Skyrocket," with mere hints of wings is rocket-powered, without a jet engine. It cannot take off from a runway, but requires aerial launching, and in the record-setting flight at 1,327 miles per hour it was on power for only three minutes — but what it did in those three minutes stirs the imagination.

Pilot Scott Crossfield, now the world's fastest flier, hooked the experimental ship onto a big bomber and was hoisted aloft to 32,000 feet. There he aimed further upward at a 45-degree angle, on a speedy parabola, then dived straight down for the velocity record.

Only a sturdy craft, streamlined to the last detail to minimize vibration with a roaring rocket in its tail pushing aganst the sky, could go that fast and stay in one piece. Only a pilot, immune from his own nerve vibrations, could make such a swift if brief journey and level off before ramming Mother Earth.

Military men talk much about such rocket-boosted speed, with or without human pilots at the controls, and are developing guided missiles intended to go further and perhaps faster, carrying only explosive cargoes.

An Air Force F-100 jet-powered fighter plane has made 755 miles an hour on level flight, almost 100 miles per hour faster than sound, for a very short distance, and glib with technicalities of power and aerodynamics as the sound barrier becomes a barrier no longer.

It is regrettable, to be sure, that these dazing exploits have a direct bearing only on warfare, but with the world in jitters these occasional demonstrations do offer comfort.

Bee Put on Neighbors

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Neighbors complained about the bees Otto Swenson kept in his yard and had him arrested. He quickly brushed up on the law. The judge dropped the case.

Swensen had learned that the law says that neighbors or no neighbors, all he had to do to keep bees legally is get a permit from the town clerk. The permit cost him 25 cents.

Perhaps it reassures prospective purchasers to read in the Business Opportunities ad that a restaurant is for sale because of the owner's poor health, but we sometimes wonder if it doesn't alarm the customers.

The editor of the old home-town paper explained once that he never got any of these exclusive scoops like the big-timers because there wasn't a single unimpeachable source in the whole county.

—:—

Always fascinating are the great man's recollections of his early struggles. The rest of us have early struggles, too, but little time to write of them as they merely merge into our late struggles.

Republicans feel that the Democrats have not given the Eisenhower team sufficient time to show what it can do, but at least they show more patience than the Baltimore sports fan who writes the editor demanding that Jimmy Dykes be fired as manager of the Orioles.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Tears for a Queen

We sympathize with Queen Elizabeth who is under a six months' sentence to review parades, dedicate monuments, attend state dinners and follow rigid schedules which kill every chance of a happy, carefree world tour. Vacationists everywhere are visibly moved. They could weep for her Majesty.

To most people a tour means respite from routines, formal arrangements, and blueprinted plans for things that just have to be done "or else."

To them a vacation means sleeping late, lolling around with little regard for clocks and looking any task in the face and laughing in its teeth.

A vacation ordinarily means dressing as you desire, with or without socks, stockings; wearing any old hat that is comfortable and packing the worst shoes in the trunk if they ease the corns.

Half the joy of a vacation rests in knowing that you can walk barefooted in a park if you wish, take a nap at the base of a monument dedicated to "The Spirit of Energy," fight with a cabbie, order a cheese sandwich in a de luxe restaurant, go to a burlesque show, hum, "I don't want any ricochet love," while walking down Main Street and do a thousand other things fairly certain nobody will recognize you.

No such luck for Queen Elizabeth or the Duke of Edinburgh. They are in for it. They must prove they can take it and come up for more.

The Queen has only been on this world tour a couple of weeks and has already stood more punishment than a run-of-the-mill vacationist would stand for over an entire lifetime, even allowing for vacations in the jungles, Arctic wastes and desert isles.

Put the average woman under any such agenda as the Queen must submit to every day and her cries of "You can't do this to me. Where's my lawyer?" would startle the populace.

The Queen must face terrible routines daily, or nearly so, for the next six months. Dignity is at her side when she has a yen to kick up her heels.

Duty, obligation and a sense of sacrifice are her constant companions, ever whispering, "Remember who you are, baby, "on those innumerable occasions when she must face another review and would like to grab the Duke's arm and cry, "Why do you stand around and let them do this to me? Are you a Duke or a mouse?"

What a beating Her Royal Highness must take! Only training and custom keep her, we think, from blowing her stack at times as she gets the daily agenda. How sick she must get of prancing chargers, chesty diplomats, masters of ceremonies and photographers!

How many moments are there when she must say to herself, "One more flashlight and I'll scream!"?

How would you like to have to be strictly on your dignity and top-level behavior for a six months' vacation? How would you face the prospect of a prolonged world tour without an outside chance to ring doorbells, thumb your nose at the rules, and do something scandalous?

Can you imagine being sent off on a tour with the words, "Have a nice trip around the world for the next half year, but don't make a move that would shock your grandmaw"?

Consider your feelings if you knew that at no time on a vacation could you slam a "Do Not Distrub" sign on the door, keep the phone off the hook and send home some picture postcards with the frank message, "I don't dig these deadly dull towns. Can stand rest, however, as the trip has been a riot up to now. Am writing you about hilarious nightclub episode. Keep decent. Love, etc."?

There is many a moment when the Queen moans, "Well, here we go again!" and the Duke answers, "The things we DO FOR ENGLAND!!!"

A Cincinnati chain grocer is giving away tickets to a philharmonic concert series. . . . Says it helps business. Many a weary housewife would prefer a system under which she could go to a concert and get the groceries.

Ohio Water Problem

Drought Points Up Need For Planning in Advance

COLUMBS, Ohio (AP)—There is just one good thing you can say about Ohio's drought. It has made people aware of the need to plan for the day it doesn't rain.

That's the opinion of Robert C. Smith, chief geologist for the state water division. He says you have to store water when there is plenty of it so it will be handy when you need it the most.

The drought has stirred a lot of Ohioans into action, from the governor on down. Gov. Frank J. Lausche has suggested water can be piped from Lake Erie and the Ohio River to drought areas. He also has suggested the state might need more reservoirs.

His suggestions are under study now.

He also acted in behalf of the farmers in southern Ohio who have had to pay to have water hauled for livestock as their own supplies vanished. Farmers in 40 southern counties are eligible for three per cent government loans if they can't get regular loans for operating their farms—and need the money.

About all the light rains last month did was loosen up the ground a bit, said Smith. It will take heavier rains to replenish streams," Smith explained.

"We're concerned about the possibility that heavy precipitation, when it comes, will be in the form of snow, after the ground freezes.

"That won't do much good because as long as the ground remains frozen the snow will evaporate and we'll lose the water."

Ohio started this year with a rainfall deficiency, because there was little snow and but light rains last spring. The deficiency grew with the year.

"If we have a dry winter," Smith said, "it's going to be a tough summer as far as water goes."

He pointed out that just about every year some of the smaller streams dry up. One is White Oak Creek from which Bethel in Clermont County gets its water. That village was without water until it could be piped in from a state lake.

The last dry spell equal to this year's was in the mid 30s. Smith said the state's water demands weren't as great then.

RIDE HUGE HAWAIIAN WAVE. Skilled Hawaiian surf riders glide down an advancing front of a huge wave at Makaha, near Waianae, Oahu, as Makaha's winter season of big waves gets an early start this year. This wave was estimated to be about 19 feet high, and only the best of island surfers brave such big ones. This picture was made with a telephoto lens from a jutting reef by "Scoop" Tsuzuki of Hawaii.

This also will include Thursday, Dec. 17, when business places will be open in the afternoon. The evening hours will continue until Thursday, Dec. 24, when the closing hour will be 6 p.m. This schedule was adopted at a recent meeting of the Carey Businessmen's Association.

Scottish Terrier Club Makes Plans For Marion Show

Plans for the forthcoming Northern Ohio Scottish Terrier Club Dog Show were discussed and officers nominated at a meeting of the group Sunday in the community room of the West Town branch of the National City Bank.

The specialty show will be held in conjunction with the annual All Breed Dog Show here Jan. 31.

A complete trophy list was also arranged for the classes of the Scottish Terrier Breed at the Western Reserve Show to be held in Cleveland Feb. 27 and 28.

Ring decorations for the show were discussed.

It was announced that a party for all Scottie exhibitors and handlers would be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Baker of E. Washington Ave. Saturday evening preceding the show.

Officers nominated for the coming year included John Wright Jr. of Oberlin for president; Norman Pursell of Oldmsted Falls, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Purcel, secretary-treasure; Richarl Hensel of Dunkirk, Mrs. Ann McGilvary of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Israel of Dayton, trustees.

Recent shows, the Kentucky Speciality held Oct. 25 and the Chicago Speciality held Nov. 22, were discussed. They were attended by several members of the Northern Ohio Scottish Terrier group. It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. McGilvray had received confirmation from the American Kennel Club of the championship of their dog, McGilvray's Captain Ban.

At another meeting to be called next month, election of officers will be held. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith at Birmingham.

A potuck dinner was served at the conclusion of the business meeting.

The Social Notebook

HUSBANDS of the members were guests when the Les Mere's Study Club held its annual Christmas dinner party Thursday evening in the community room over the West Bank. Tables were decorated with sleigh and reindeer and holiday trimmed packages which were favors for each person. The women received lipsticks and mirrors and the men were given knives on keychains.

Cards provided entertainment during the evening with the award in euchre going to Fred Keck and Philmore Kyle, in canasta to Cecil Rutherford and Carl Deibel. Mrs. John Endicott received a special award.

Plans were made to fill Christmas baskets for needy families, with Mrs. Kenneth McAdams, president, in charge. Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Mrs. E. J. Farst and Mrs. Philmore Kyle.

The next meeting, Dec. 15, will mark the tenth anniversary of the club. For the occasion, members will hold a dinner in Columbus after which they will go to the home of a former member, Mrs. Carl Deibel, 4174 Lawnview Dr., Columbus, for a Christmas gift exchange at which time secret sisters will be revealed.

Election of officers for the new year was held when Protected Home Circle No. 184 met Friday night in the IOOF lodge hall. Mrs. Dessie Carpenter presided for the meeting.

Mrs. Mary Fout was elected president; Mrs. Rose Seiter, chaplain; Mrs. Geneva Miller, guardian; Mrs. Joan Green, guide; Miss Valeda Wigle, companion; Orland Green, sentinel; Ralph Snyder, watchman; Isaac Eaton, trustee for three years; C. I. Smithson, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Arndt, secretary and captain.

Installation will be held in February. Plans were made for an annual Christmas party and program to be held Dec. 18. Included in the program will be recitations by the junior PHC members, and musical numbers by the seniors.

Mrs. L. E. Oberlander was a guest when the Silver Cross Circle, King's Daughters, met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. F. D. Lawrence on Harding Highway East. Miss Gertrude Carleton opened the meeting with the consecration and hymn of the order, and Mrs. J. H. Ohmansiek conducted devotions. The program, in charge of Mrs. Guy Rank, included group singing of Christmas carols and a vocal solo by Mrs. Rank. A Reading, "Christmas In the Heart" was given by Mrs. Byron Rice. An auction and gift exchange followed the meeting. The next meeting, Jan. 7, will be with Mrs. John Zeisler of 299 Carner Ave.

A potluck supper preceded the meeting when the Inasmuch Circle of King's Daughters held a Christmas party Thursday night with Mrs. W. A. Dorsey on S. Vine St. Arrangements were in charge of the social committee, composed of Mrs. James Ralston, Mrs. J. E. Dennison, Mrs. B. R. Prichard and Mrs. W. L. Williams.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. C. H. Bachelder and 31 members gave Bible verses in response to roll call. Plans were made to send several cases of coke to Maplecrest Home for Christmas. Mrs. W. L. Williams read "The Candle of the Lord," and for the program Mrs. George Wilson read an original Christmas story written by her daughter, Ruth. Christmas carols were sung by the group.

Philathea Circle of Emanuel Lutheran Church met in the education building for a Christmas dinner and meeting Wednesday evening. Rev. M. E. Hollensen was the evening's speaker. Other guests were: Mrs. Hollensen, Mrs. James Boyer, Mrs. Harry Kaelber, Mrs. Freda Dix, Mrs. A. C. Lautenslager, Mrs. L. B. Hill and Mrs. William Fogle. Mrs. Dix and Mrs. Lautenslager were welcomed as new members. The dinner was prepared by the social committee which included Mrs. Curtis Laubner, Mrs. E. H. Cooper, and Mrs. Twila Mapes, assisted by Mrs. M. Y. Gast, Mrs. Clifford Thibaut and Mrs. Harry Foltz.

During the business meeting, it was decided to give a Christmas basket to a needy family and to send rugs to Welleston Home of Mercy and the Mars Home, Pa. Thirty towels and wash cloths and $15 will also be sent to Grace Lutheran Sanitorium at San Antonio, Texas. A gift exchange was held after the business meeting.

Mrs. Mary Rinnert was elected president of the Cooper Relief Corps No. 194 at the Tuesday afternoon meeting in Grotto Hall. Other officers are Mrs. Helen Weston, senior vice president; Mrs. Estelle Huffman, junior vice president, Mrs. Rose Seiter, chaplain; Mrs. Maxine McCurdy, treasurer; Mrs. Blanche Hartpence, conductor; Mrs. Lesslie Smithson, inner guard.

The president reported on the group's rug and candy projects. All members brought toys to be sent to the Xenia Children's Home and hankies to be sent to the Madison, O., Ladies Home. The Christmas party will be held Dec. 8 at West Town Bank. A potluck dinner will be served at noon and a 50 cent gift exchange will be held. Mrs. Eva Bailer received the drawing prize.

A class of candidates was initiated and officers elected when Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in IOOF Hall. Elected to office were: Mrs. Blanche Hartpence, councillor; Mrs. Christabell Apt, associate councillor; Mrs. Ida Uncapher, vice councillor; Mrs. Phyllis Yost, associate vice councillor; Mrs. Margaret Way, conductor; Mrs. Veriae Young, warden; Mrs. Bessie Lampton, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Edith Fox, inside sentinel; Mrs. Edna Lomes, outside sentinel; Mrs. Veriae Young, trustee for 18 months.

An announcement was made that the O and T Club will have its potluck dinner and Christmas gift exchange Wednesday evening, Dec. 9, at the home of Mrs. Thursa Jones, Kensington Place. Plans were made for the quarterly birthday dinner and Christmas gift exchange to be held at the next regular meeting.

A family dinner at the Shangri La Restaurant Sunday celebrated the 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langdon of 470 Cherry St. Joining them for the occasion were their four children and their families. The celebrants received a number of remembrances. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Langdon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eagen of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Underwood and son Jimmy of Bellefontaine, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Langdon and children Judy and Steve and Mr. and Mrs. William Langdon Jr. and children Linda and Janet, and two sisters of Mrs. Langdon, Mrs. James Cordray and Mrs. Laura St. Clair.

Mrs. R. W. Lehman, Mrs. George Keefer and Mrs. R. R. Thornberry were guests when Mrs. R. G. Smallwood of Bellefontaine Ave. entertained Circle No. 2 of the Wesley Methodist Church Thursday. Mrs. Charles Clark opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. O. W. McElheney conducted the devotions. Readings were given by Mrs. Beth Monk, Mrs. C. G. Roberts and Mrs. Smallwood. Mrs. Clark sang a solo. A gift exchange was held and Christmas carols were sung by the group. It was announced that the gift packages would be taken to the WSCS meeting next Thursday at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Blair of 209 N. Seffner Ave. are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ann, to Navy Airman William R. Schuyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schuyler of Ironton, which took place Nov. 3 at San Jose, Calif. Rev. C. H. Augsburg read the ceremony in the parsonage of the First Church of the Nazarene.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wardwell.

For her wedding the bride wore a street-length dress of white orlon and navy accessories. Her corsage was purple throated orchids. The attendant wore a light blue dress, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride was graduated from Harding High School this year and before going to California was employed in the office of the McMillen Feed Mills. The bridegroom, a graduate of the Ironton High School, was employed in the laboratories of the Allied Chemical & Dye Co. before entering the U. S. Navy in 1951. He is stationed at Moffet Field in California. The couple took a wedding trip through the West and are making their home at 82 N. Seventh St. in San Jose.

Hussey of the Standard Oil Co. Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Robert Hurley, president, and Mrs. George M. Schelb, vice president.

New Soviet 'Tragedy'

Russian Newspaperman Decries Dull Hat Styles

AP Newsfeatures

MOSCOW — Hold your hats — Paris, New York and London.

Here comes Moscow, a new competitor in the ladies millinery field.

But, boys, you won't break your necks craning. For in Moscow no woman minds if she passes another on the street wearing the same hat—for styles are all pretty nearly the same. And these pancakes or berets are not eye-catchers, even if an ordinary price is 100 rubies ($25 by the official rate).

BUT ALL THIS would change soon, if G. Ulyanov of the newspaper Evening Moscow has his way.

Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov himself in a recent speech said there was no reason why Soviet women should not be provided smart and elegant, as well as serviceable, shoes and hats by their own designers.

Now Ulyanov puts the blast on the local hat designers. He's no Lilly Dache or John Frederics but he knows there's something wrong with Moscow chapeaux, especially their "melancholy and boring monotony."

Says Ulyanov: "Autumn has arrived. And for a long time women shoppers have been going from store to store in a vain search for pretty, good quality hats. And finally the majority of them drop into milliners' establishments, where they can order hats not only to suit the season but also to suit their tastes.

"ARE THERE REALLY no hats in the shops?' Comrad Ivanov, director of the local industry department of the Moscow City Executive committee may ask.

"There are hats, Comrade Ivanov! And quite a lot of them. But to find a good style of hat is almost as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack . . .

"A huge quantity of spring and summer hats has already been sent back to the storehouses because they did not find customers . . .

"The directors of headgear factories completely ignore the tastes of their clients. Adopting the saying "It is not the place that adorns a man, but a man who adorns the place,' they have evidently decided that it is not the hat which adorns the woman but the woman who should adorn the hat."

BUT CRITIC ULYANOV, like many another male the world over, doesn't want styles to go too wacky.

"One marvels!" remarks Ulyanov. "How could anyone think of creating a design for a lady's hat which is reminiscent of something between the famous leaning tower of Pisa and an ordinary dovecote! One could not purpose-link up such a combination of flowers as designers frequently contrive to combine in a single hat. And sometimes, on the contrary, there is a melancholy and boring monotony.

"AND YET local enterprises can make good headgear. At the quarterly exhibitions quite good samples remain samples from year to year. Only two or three of the far-from-best stylse go into production.

"However, this fails to move the directors of industry. They can't seem to understand there is nothing wrong in the fact that women are unwilling to wear pancake hats forever and demand a variety of styles."

And so, until Ulyanov or somebody else stirs the directors of industry, Moscow women will continue to wear largely pancake hats or berets. And those who can't afford hats will continue to wrap their heads in shawls.

Bucyrus Physician Named

Dr. Bibler Elected Head Of Harding Scout Group

A Bucyrus physician, Dr. Darrell D. Bibler, has been elected president of the Harding Area Boy Scout Council, succeeding Dr. Robert Gray of Marion who held the position for five years.

Dr. Gray will assume the post of vice chairman of Region 4 after the first of the year. The region is composed of the states of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

COUNCIL VICE PRESIDENTS elected at Thursday night's annual dinner meeting at Camp Owens were Max Smith of Mt. Gilead and L. Otis Porter and W. H. Goodwin, both of Marion.

Karl Bechtle and Roy Shipton, both of Marion, were elected commissioner and treasurer, respectively. Drs. Bibler and Gray were named representatives to the national council.

ELEVEN NEW members were elected to the council's 35-man executive board. They were Rev. W. L. Stafford, Ed Neidig and Harold D. Carroll, all of Marion, Dale Mosher and Leroy Bader, both of Mt. Gilead, Leo Bernard and Urban Lorentz, both of Carey Rev. James Osborn of Johnsville, Dee Dunham of Cardington, Frank Lehman of Bucyrus and Glenn Grundtish of Upper Sandusky.

Dr Bibler appointed five committee chairmen for the coming year. They were Goodwin, finance; owell Rhoades of Marion, advancement; Dr. A. J. Wagner of Marion, camping and activities; Lehman, leader training; and Smith, organization.

The health and safety and public relations chairmen will be appointed later.

THE HARDING AREA is composed of Marion, Wyandot, Morrow and Crawford Counties.

Dr. Bibler has been active in scouting for three years, during which time he served as a member of the executive board and chairman of the council's health and safety and 1953 jamboree committees. He was a medical officer at the 1950 and 1953 national jamborees.

He is also active in civic affairs and is now in his second term on the Bucyrus city council. He has two sons, both of whom are explorer scouts.

Dr. Gray is now entering his 30th year of scouting work. In addition to serving as president of the Harding Area Council he has been a member of the Central Ohio Area Council and the Region 4 executive board.

He is a recipient of the Silver Beaver and Silver Antelope awards for distinguished service to scouting.

No Bargain

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A small, gray-haired woman walked to a counter at the five-and-dime store and asked for a 5-cent tie box. The clerk told her the cheapest one was a dime.

She left indignantly, declaring: "I bought the tie because it was a bargain but it won't be a bargain if I pay a dime for the box!"

450 Persons Attend Y Performances by OSU's Swim Aces

Approximately 450 persons attended the swimming exhibitions given by members of the Ohio State University swimming team Saturday at the YMCA.

A total of 250 watched the afternoon exhibition and 200 more came that evening. The exhibition in the natatorium was sponsored by the YMCA Junior Leaders Club for the purchase of uniforms.

Morley Shapiro and Chandler Harper, both of San Francisco, national intercollegiate diving champs performed. The two put on a clown diving act and demonstrated various competitive dives.

Two other members of the OSU swimming team demonstrated the various swimming strokes and also swam against members of the Junior Leaders group in handicap races. Dick Cleveland, scheduled to be at the exhibitions, was unable to come due to a conflict with another show.

Harper, also a national trampoline performer who got his start in the YMCA at Encino, Calif., agreed to come back here at a later date and put on a trampoline performance.

Mitchell Short on Authority

Secretary of Labor's Power Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — James P. Mitchell has the smallest province in the federal government's vast domain. His Labor Department has 5,000 employes, which is fewer than any other department.

His job as secretary of labor, which might seem to make him grand titan and superchief of labor problems, is really a seat on the aisle. If he can make it more important, it will take some doing.

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, not the Labor Department, dig deepest into the difficulties of workers and employers.

The NLRB, as chief interpreter of the Taft-Hartley Act, lays down the rules for both sides. When a national strike threatens, the mediation board is called in to try for a peaceful settlement.

The secretary of labor has no control over wages in peacetime. And when the government does control wages in wartime, as it did in World War II and after the Korean outbreak, it sets up a special board outside Mitchell's department.

Railroad workers' relations with their employers are outside the labor secretary's jurisdiction. Their problems with the railroad industry are handled by the Railroad Retirement Board and the National Mediation and Adjustment Boards.

Even a couple of tiny agencies, which might seem rightfully to belong in the Labor Department, are outside it; these handle vocational training and rehabilitation of handicapped persons. Both are in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Nevertheless, a labor secretary can make his job vital, if the President is guided by him and Congress has confidence in his judgment.

As a member of the Cabinet, the labor secretary can advise the President on the administration's labor policies and its recommendations to Congress on labor legislation.

So far in the Eisenhower administration the bigest job of the labor secretary—both Mitchell and his predecessor Martin Durkin—has been working on Taft-Hartley law changes which might be acceptable to unions and management and to Congress too.

Mitchell may find it an impossible task. Durkin quit when, he said, the White House wouldn't go along with his recommendations for changing the law.

Mitchell told the CIO convention Nov. 18 he would be spokesman for labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet but not a "mouthpiece." He pledged "fair" amendments to the Taft-Hartley law.

And he said he wants the minimum wage law widened to cover more of the nation's 63 million workers, plus a raise in the wage. Under present law about 22 million workers in interstate industries must be paid at least 75 cents an hour.

APPEARS ON PROGRAM

BUCYRUS — A talk, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," by Miss Betty Newton, featured the December meeting of the Bucyrus chapter of the American Association of University Women held Thursday night in the King's Daughters chapter house. Miss Newton, an employe of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., demonstrated several ways in which the personal touch could be added to gift wrappings, home decorations and foods. She emphasized that each member of the family should assume some responsibility in preparing for the holidays.

1,000 Persons Hear 'Messiah'

Civic Chorus Gives Annual Presentation

The auditorium and balconies of Epworth Methodist Church were filled when more than 1,000 atended the Marion Civic Chorus performance of the oratorio, "The Messiah," by Handel Sunday night.

Heard with the 100-voice chorus were three guest soloists, and the group was directed by Prof. Rexford Keller of Delaware, head of the music department of Ohio Wesleyan University. A string ensemble from Delaware provided instrumental supplement. Organist and pianist were Marion musicians, and Mrs. Esther R. Hale, Civic Chorus president, was contralto soloist.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Brooks Wilson of Columbus was soprano soloist, Leonard Edwards of Cleveland, tenor, and Gordon Almstead of Delaware, baritone. The instrumental group was composed of Romine Hamilton, Frederic Karaffa, Robert Hladky, and Martha Bowlus. Mrs. Eliza T. Williams was the organist, and Mrs. Dorothy B. Jennings, pianist.

Praise of the work of the soloists and of the chorus was enthusiastic, and a spokesman for the Marion group stated today it is hoped to secure the same guest musicians for the presentation next year. 'The Messiah" is performed each year by the Civic Chorus at the beginning of the Yuletide season as a "Christmas gift to the community."

Fire

the air and the dense clouds of black smoke soon attracted a crowd of some 1,000 persons.

Telephone wires running along the north-south alley next to the building were burned in two, and insulation was burned from high tension electric wires across the alley.

All the windows in another concrete block building across the alley, occupied by Chivington's Auto Sales as a repair and servicing garage, were broken out by the heat and explosion with a loss estimated at about $75.

Firemen from the Central and Mark St. stations fought the fire about an hour, and were called back again at 6:58 p.m. when a smoldering rafter again threatened to break into open flame.

The fire will not hinder the operation of the Short-Ford sales or service departments, a spokesman for the company said today.

City firemen were also called out two other times over the weekend. At 9:38 p.m. Saturday they went to the residence of Frank Tripple at 875½ Bennett St. when fumes from defective refrigerator filled the house. Firemen from the Central and W. Center St. stations disconnected the refrigerator and reported there was no loss.

At 12:10 a.m. Sunday, W. Center St. firemen were called out to the McCune and Co., Inc. on Breen St. where sparks from a passing locomotive on nearby C & O Railroad or a discarded cigaret or match set fire to a small wooden fence. Loss was estimated at some $25 to the fence.

Ike

to a Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin, possibly in early January.

The draft of the note was sent immediately to Bonn, where West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer approved it today.

In their examination of European problems, Eisenhower and Churchill reportedly heard a plea yesterday from Bidault for new assurances they will maintain their military strength in Europe and will back France's demands for continued close economic union with the strategic border Saar Basin, which Germany wants "Europeanized."

These were given as part of France's price for ratification of German rearmament as part of the projected European Defense Community.

Informants said both Eisenhower and Churchill pledged that, at this time, they have no intention of reducing the combat effectiveness of the American and British forces on the European continent.

But both reportedly refused to commit any fixed number of troops to continental duty, or to say how long they would keep troops on Europe's mainland.

Nor would they commit themselves to choose sides in the Saar dispute, it was said.

The announcement that Eisenhower planned to address the U.N. came from the President's press secretary, James Hagerty.

Hagerty first told a news conference the speech, on which the President had been working for many weeks, had been "unanimously approved by the British and French leaders.

Three Injured In Accidents

Police Investigate 7, Patrol Lists One

Three persons were slightly injured in two of eight accidents reported today in Marion County by Police and state patrolmen from the Marion post. Seven of the accidents were investigated by city police.

In the only accident in the county reported by the patrol, two cars collided on Marion County Road 141, four-tenths of a mile east of state route 98 at 6:45 p.m. Sunday.

The cars were driven by James F. Edwards, 48, of Waldo and Fred Osborne, 25, of Cardington. Patrol reports show the cars collided on a rise in the road as Edwards was headed south, and Osborne was north-bound.

Patolmen charged Osborne was driving left of the center of the roadway. He was issued a citation to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer the charge. Netiher driver was injured in the crash. Both cars were damaged.

Accidents in Marion

Three persons were slightly injured in two of three traffic accidents on city streets investigated over the weekend by Marion police.

Kenneth E. Webb, 16, of 715 Adams St. received cuts on his face when he rode a motor scooter off the side of the road at E. Mark St. and Lincoln Ave., at 11:53 a.m. Saturday. He later told police he was riding west when he had to swerve to the right to avoid a collision with an oncoming car. In doing so the front wheel of the motor scooter hit a chuck hole and the fork broke off throwing him to the ground, he said. Taken to City Hospital, he was treated for his injuries and released.

Two persons were hurt in a collision at N. Main and Fairgrounds Sts. at 5:19 p.m. yesterday. Ray Starcher, 19, of 916 Gebhardt St. and Victor Smith of 916½ Gebhardt St. were passengers in a car driven by James J. Starcher, 45, of 916 Gebhardt St. Starcher's car and one driven by Paul F. Gilbaugh, 60, of near Nevada collided at the intersection. Both cars were badly damaged. Ray Starcher and Smith received cuts and bruises.

Two of the other accidents in the city were hit-skips. Police arrested Carl Eugene Uline, 24, of 582 E. Mark St. on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident following one of them. The mishap occurred at 7:20 a.m. Sunday when a car struck a car owned by Joseph Darnell parked in front of his residence at 711 Bennett St. The license number and description of the car were obtained from witnesses and Uline was arrested at his home at 10:28 a.m. Police said the left rear fender of Darnell's car and the right front fender of Uline's car were damaged. Uline was to appear in Municipal Court today.

The other hit-skip occurred at 6:30 p.m. Saturday when an unidentified car struck a car parked on N. State St. owned by Herbert L. Albright of near Edison. The left front fender of the parked car was damaged.

Cars driven by Ruth Ann Gamble of 626½ E. Center St. and Joseph C. Bright, 63, of near LaRue were damaged in an accident on E. Center St. in front of the Isely Dairy Co. store at 1:48 p.m. Sunday. Both were traveling east, police reported.

The rear end of a car driven by James E. Dawson, 19, of 442 N. Grand Ave. was damaged when struck by a car driven by George E. Reeder, 21, of near Cardington at W. Center and Garden Sts. at 9:36 p.m. Sunday. The front of Reeder's car was also damaged.

A car parked in front of 198 N. Prospect St. owned by L. D. Keith of near Marion was damaged when struck by a car driven south by S. C. Hunter, 52, of 126 Cayuga St. at 6:18 p.m. Saturday. Police reported Hunter's car was also damaged.

Accidents

the car hit a slippery spot in the highway and went out of control, crashing against a guard rail, throwing both Mr. and Mrs. Murray from the car. Mr. Murray was driving

Mr. Murray received facial lacerations and abrasions. He was taken to Fostoria Hospital where he was treated and released.

The couple was on their way to Perrysburg to visit a sister of Mrs. Murray's, Mrs. Ira Mankel.

Born in Green Camp

Mrs. Murray was born Aug. 31, 1901 in Green Camp to George and Harriet Davis Temple. Her father was a native of Guernsey County, and her mother was born in Green Camp.

She is survived by her husband, one son, five sisters, and one grandson. Her son is William W. Murray of 517 Delaware Ave. Surviving sisters are Mrs. Carl O'Brien of 350 Park St., Mrs. Stanley Royal of Hammond, Ind., Mrs. Nell Markwell of 517 Delaware ave., Mrs. Ira Markel of Perrysburg, and Mrs. Merle Eastman of Cleveland. Her grandson is William Murray, Jr. of the Delaware Ave. address.

Funeral services will be at the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary Wednesday at 2 p.m. with Rev. J. B. Hollaway of Trinity Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be at Green Camp Cemetery. Friends may call after 7:30 tonight at the funeral home.

Youth Born in Delaware

Wray Gordon Glenn was born Oct. 6, 1938 to Howard and Elizabeth Jones Glenn in Delaware. Both his parents are natives of Delaware. He was a member of the Fite Memorial Baptist Church.

Surviving besides his parents are three grandparents, one brother, an done sister. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Jones of near Delaware, and A. L. Glenn of Delaware.

His brother is Pvt. Arlen Glenn of Ft. Knox, Ky., and his sister is Ruth Ann Glenn of the home address.

The body was removed from the Delaware hospital to the Robinson-Hanrahan Funeral Home in Delaware. It will be brought to the Boyd Funeral Home here Tuesday at 7 p.m. Friends may call at Boyd's after 7 p.m. Tuesday until 11 a.m. Wednesday. Then the body will be returned to the funeral home in Delaware where services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday with Rev. Norman R. Wren officiating.

Burial will be in Green Mound Cemetery at Kilbourn.

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Five persons, four of them children, died yesterday in a Negro tenement fire.

Virgil Dye Elected By Ohio Hotel Unit

Virgil F. Dye of Marion was elected treasurer of the Ohio Hotels Association at the closing session of its 60th annual convention Saturday in Columbus. He is manager of Hotel Harding.

Also attending from here were Mrs. Dye and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marty of the Marion Hotel.

Other officers elected Saturday afternoon were Louis A. Mattevi of Hotel Lape at Salem, president, and Robert P. Joyce of Hotel Hollenlen in Cleveand, vice president. Mattevi succeeded Joseph G. Wright, manager of the Mansfied Leland Hotel, as state president. The new officers officially take office on Jan. 1.

The convention opened Thursday and closed Saturday night with a banquet in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel at Columbus.

urday by the Marion County sheriff's office and store manager and investigator, the man related that he was employed at the store in the fall of 1952 and worked there until last Tuesday when he left Marion after suspecting officials were aware of the thefts.

Leaves for Illinois

He left Marion and headed toward Illinois, the confession continues, where he decided to return to Marion to give himself up following a telephone conversation with his wife in Marion County.

The telephone call was placed from Springfield, Ill.

In the meantime, James J. Weir, local store manager, and Thomas M. Stevenson, Montgomery Ward investigator, who arrived in Marion Tuesday night, left Marion Thursday evening to try to locate the man.

They spotted him 400 miles from Marion, east of Springfield, Ill. The man informed them he was voluntarily returning to Marion, and the three men drove to Marion, arriving at 8 a.m. Friday.

Merchandise Recovered

Following a search Friday night of the houses of the man and the woman by company officials and the sheriff's office, the merchandise was recovered and the man agreed to return to the sheriff's office Saturday morning for questioning.

Included in the list of merchandise the man admitted taking from the store within the last year were the television set and antenna, radios, clothes and tools.

The man could offer no explanations for his actions.

negotiations which did not materialize. In both cases it developed that officials of various unions involved were meeting secretly and unexpectedly with Maggiolo and other mediators.

Meet Privately

The disputants first had been scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. yesterday. Publisher representatives waited for more than three hours before learning that union officials had been meeting privately, at least for part of the time with federal conciliators.

Murder

not in Marion County as was first believed.

On July 16, 1951, the case was turned over to the Morrow County sheriff and on Sept. 12 Mrs. Elwsick was convicted.

Elswick also has a police record in Marion. On July 19 of this year he was arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was charged with allowing his 14-year-old son to operate a motor vehicle without a license. He was fined $50 and costs in juvenile court.

At that time his address was listed as 140½ N. Main St.

Elswick also has a record with city police for two arrests for intoxication and one traffic violation. He pleaded guilty in all cases.

Elswick had no regular employment in recent weeks. He has picked up a little money now and then at odd jobs, the sheriff said.

Baker also works irregularly. He spends most of his time hunting and trapping. a shed next to his shack contained several pelts of animals he trapped last week.

His tiny house, barely 6 feet wide by 12 feet long, was "all torn up" when Elswick was picked up there Sunday afternoon. Clothing was thrown into a pile on the floor. An empty wine bottle lay on the floor, along with dishes and food.

Elswick was asleep in the bed at one end of the house.

Baker was picked up at the home of a friend in Green Camp.

Both men were in a stupor from drink, the sheriff said. They were too drunk to talk coherently.

They were questioned by the sheriff and deputies, Prosecutor Ralph Carhart and Assistant Prosecutor Robert Stout yesterday afternoon and again last night. Marion police officers also assisted.

Can't Remember Details

Obenour reported that Elswick, who had undergone questioning in other cases, "knew the ropes." He kept saying throughout the questioning at the police department that he didn't remember certain details and facts or that he was too nervous to talk.

The sheriff pointed that in one of the discrepancies between the confession and the evidence, the body was found bare from the waist up, but Elswick said he did not remember undressing her. Some of her clothes, believed worn that night, were found at the shack.

There was a strip of cloth around her body and marks on the body giving evidence that she had been carried, the sheriff said. He added that he believed the strip of cloth was torn from a sheet found in the tiny shack.

However, Elswick did not say in his confession that he had been at the shack just prior to or at the time of the murder. He stated that he and his wife had taken a taxi from a Marion tavern to the dump. According to his confession, they did not leave the dump from the time the taxi delivered them there until the time of the murder.

Elwick said in his confession that he did remember leaving his wife's body at the dump and returning to Baker's shack.

Several witnesses have been lined up, the sheriff said. The taxi driver identified Elswick as the man he had taken to the dump with a woman, assumed to be his wife.

The sheriff also has witnesses who saw Elswick at the dump around 9 p.m. Saturday with a package which is believed to have been the bottle of wine.

Elswick is being held at the county jail and Baker in city jail. Elswick is a native of Franklin Furnace in southern Ohio, just above Ironton.

He was a welder by trade.

Mrs. Elswick was a native of Ironton where she was born on Aug. 8, 1922. The Elswicks have been married 16 years and have a 14-year-old son who is living with his paternal grandparents in Baltimore, Md.

Funeral arrangements will be made after local authorities get in touch with Mrs. Elswick's sister in Columbus or other relatives.

City Police Make 8 Traffic Arrests

Eight persons were stopped on traffic charges over the weekend by city police.

John L. McIntyre, 40, of 159½ N. Main St. was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having physical control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was arrested at 1:22 a.m. Sunday. He was released today when he paid his fine.

Charged with drunk driving, Charles H. Thacker of 553 N. Main St. pleaded not guilty this morning and his trial was set for Dec. 18. He was arrested at 3:23 a.m. today on S. Prospect St.

Fined $15 and costs each were: Gerald B. Schirmer, 53, of Green Camp, no safety chains to trailer; Richard Morgan, 28, of Bucyrus, crossing over a fire hose; Arven E. Hunt, 22, of Caledonia, speeding; Richard L. Rumsey, 18, of 375 N. State St., open muffler; and Kent Reed, 49, of near Marion, no muffler.

George A. Laipply of near Marion, charged with failure to display an operator's license on request of a policeman, he is to appear in Municipal Court later for a hearing.

from many Missisippi towns headed for the city, located on a bluff overlooking the Missisippi River.

Debris in the streets was cleared away quickly and rescue workers began digging out the dead.

The twister roared out of the west, cut through the heart of the city, and then faded out.

Ten youngsters between the ages of 2 and 10 were among the dead.

Furniture Stolen

Theft of some $26 worth of furniture in a break-in of her apartment was repoted to city police Sunday by Dorothy Gamble of 484½ W. Center St.

She said the burglary took place sometime between Nov. 30 and Dec. 6 while she was away. Taken was a table lamp, a radio and an electric clock.

Police said entrance was gained by prying open the rear door.

Miracle Disease

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Science labors to bring forth a new miracle drug every day, but my aims are more modest.

All I want to do is give mankind a new miracle disease every few years, a disease everybody can enjoy.

The trouble with a miracle drug seems to be that as soon as it whips one disease it sometimes gives you two other diseases that require the discovery of two more new miracle drugs to cure. How long can this go on?

That's the nice thing about my new miracle disease for the current season. No modern miracle drug has any effect on it, but the disease itself, if treated properly, will prevent you from catching more serious, disabling ailments.

In this respect it is like the common cold or virus X, two fine old miracle diseases that have lost their social usefulness because people now suspect you are lying if you claim you have them and wears out a miracle disease like suspicion.

That is why I suggest you catch my new miracle disease—Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Seizure, or Bess for short—as soon as possible. Get its benefits now. It can't last long in a world where every man doubts the other fellow's symptoms and suspects his motives.

To give credit where credit is due, I got the idea for Bess from Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, the internationally known physician.

Dr. Alvarez in a recent article described a new ailment which he himself had suffered from called The Devil's Grip. It is characterized by a terrible back pain, headache, chill, shivering, nausea and dizziness.

The title, The Devil's Grip, drew me at once. It was just the kind of attention-attracting name I needed for my new miracle disease of 1953-1954. But after all, it is a real disease, and who wants one of those?

Life today periodically gives everyone a terrific pain in the neck, however, and who doesn't also shiver, feel dizzy and nauseated in these times? This results in boredom, and causes a tired, run-down feeling that can best be cured by a comfortable siege of brooding in bed.

So I thought of naming my new successor to virus X and the common cold False Devil's Grip. But I decided "false" would keep it from widespread popularity.

Then I sounded out such names as Hellburn Wrap, Angel Fever, purgatory Flutters and Wishbone Cramp. Somehow they didn't quite ring true. Throwing modesty aside, I decided to name my new miracle disease after its discoverer, which would give it a ring of authenticity.

How can you tell when you have Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Siezure—or Bess? Well, Bess has exactly the same symptoms as the common cold or virus X except for two things. Your nose doesn't run, and you yawn oftener from an overwhelming sense of ennui.

You go to bed when it hits you and you recover from Bess when you get tired of it. You treat it by eating an old vitamin-packed miracle drug known as beefsteak whenever you are hungry.

Bess is a protective disease. It will protect you from pneumonia, overwork, or boring cocktail parties. It will protect you from being hit by a taxicab. What other miracle disease can make these claims?

Be the first in your crowd to catch Bess. Win the social acclaim and respect that reward anyone who is the first to fall victim of a strange, fascinating, mysterious and comfortable ailment. It won't be long until some jealous termite in our society passes the word around:

"Have you noticed how much Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Seizure resembles what we used to call laziness?"

Then we'll have to discover a new miracle disease.

Hoodlums Kill Manufacturer In Los Angeles

Beaten to Death After Aiding Young Marine Victim of Gang Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gang of youthful hoodlums beat a wealthy manufacturer to death in the heart of downtown Los Angeles last night when he attempted to aid a Marine who was being attacked by the gang.

The victim was William D. Cluff, of Hollywood, owner of the Western Chemical & Manufacturing Co., producers of asbestos products.

Police said the youths ganged up on the Marine, Pfc. John W. Moore, 18, of Camp Pendleton, Calif., at the intersection of Seventh and Broadway. Moore said he was nudged in the back and when he turned one of the hoodlums snarled, "Have you got a beef, or something?"

Then Moore was sluged and the battle moved into the street. Witnesses said Cluff, who was window-shopping while waiting to keep an appointment with his wife, called out: "Leave that Marine alone."

With this four others leaped from a nearby car and about nine youths swarmed over Cluff, beating him and knocking him to the curb. Officers said his head hit the pavement. He died en route to an emergency hospital.

Later police picked up seven youths for questioning.

Moore was only slightly hurt in the fight.

Kiwanis Club Schedules Farmers' Day Program

The Marion Kiwanis Club will hold its first Farmers' Day program at its meeting Thursday noon at Hotel Harding. Paying tribute to the farming industry in Marion County, the club will have as its guests 15 representative farm operators.

Guest speaker will be C. Maurice Wieting of Columbus, vice president in charge of information and education for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. He holds several degrees in rural education, has served on the staff of Columbia University and the New York City Schools, is the author of a recent book in his field and spent four years in Washington as director of information for the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

Depression Antidote

By Victor Riesel

During the not-so-gay Thirties, on a little paper which paid off more in titles than in cash, one of my days as managing editor was electrified by a frenzied warning from the civil war front in Spain. The Communists were planning to kill our correspondent there, I was informed, unless we got him out fast.

RIESEL

Well, he wasn't killed. But others were—by the Soviet's secret police executioners. That's a long story, however, for another day. Suffice to say that all this sprang to life again a few moments ago when I was poring over the recently-released testimony of one of the Communists' indoctrinators of union people in something called the Workers School, in New York City. This molder of working class minds was a real toughie in Spain, and rated the rank of Major in the International Brigade—Major Milton Wolff.

ACCORDING TO the testimony released by the Senate Sub-Committee on Internal Security, "Major" Wolff was asked whether he had served under Soviet officers. He refused to answer. He was asked if he is now a member of "an espionage ring seeking to damage the government of the U. S." He refused to answer. Then he was asked:

"Did you have anything to do with the execution of any American citizens in Spain?"

Again "Major" Wolff stood steadfastly on the Fifth Amendment. He refused to answer.

That's the record—page 770, section 12, Senate Report on Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments.

This also reminded me of another day in the late Thirties when into my editorial office came a small, slightly-built, very nervous man. That man was Walter Krivitsky, first of the major Soviet spies and couriers to break with the GPU. Of all those who've broken, Krivitsky held the highest rank—he was head of Soviet military intelligence in western Europe, with the rank of general.

Before he died—or was killed—under strange circumstances in a Washington hotel, Gen. Krivitsky wrote a book. On Page 95, Krivitsky wrote what he had told us previously:

"All the volunteers' passports were taken up when they arrived in Spain, and very rarely was a passport returned. Even when a man was discharged, he was told his passport had been lost. From the U. S. alone about 2,000 volunteers came over, and genuine American passports are highly prized at Ogpu headquarters in Moscow. Nearly every diplomatic pouch from Spain that arrived at the Lubianka contained a batch of passports from members of the International Brigade.

"Several times while I was in Moscow in the spring of 1937, I saw this mail in the offices of the foreign division of the Ogpu. One day a batch of about 100 passports arrived; half of them were American. They had belonged to dead soldiers. That was a great haul, a cause for celebration. The passports of the dead, after some weeks of inquiry into the family histories of their original owners, are easily adapted to their new bearers, the OGPU agents."

THERE WERE also many passports from the bodies of Canadian volunteers, some of whom had enlisted right into the Mackenzine-Papineau battalion in Canada. This was the equivalent of the Abraham Lincoln brigade organized in the U. S. to fight in Spain. Spain.

Many of the U. S. passports were used by Soviet espoionage agents. So were the Canadian documents—hundreds of them. About some of these, there is one man who can testify. He is the Soviet code clerk who broke with the apparatus, Igor Gouzenko.

How does he know? He knows the Canadians who ran the passport mill under the code name of shoemakers (which comes from the Dutch word sabot—meaning shoe—and which is the origin of the word sabotage—the throwing of wooden shoes into the machinery). One whom Gouzenko has exposed was the Canadian Labor-Progressive party chief, Sam Carr.

CARR HAS BEEN exposed as the man who could bribe Canadian passport officials into tampering with government files. In at least one vital case he used $3,000, sent him by Moscow. He had the description and photoes changed in the dossier of one Ignacy Witczak, a volunteer who fought and supposedly died in the International Brigade. Without knowing that the real Witcak was to turn up later, the Russians got up a fake Ignacy Witczak and moved him into the U. S. on the passport which had been lifted from the real man while the volunteer was in the trenches.

The fake Witczak was sent to "study" in the University of Southern California. While there he ran one of the most important Soviet spy rings—and it will some day be shown he had the services of labor officials not in the AFL or CIO. Then, one day, he went out to a lonely strip of Pacific beach and showed up in Poland months later.

Now, just who were the labor leaders who worked with him?

Dog's Life

By Laura Hobson

There are about 23 million dogs in the U. S. and nearly four million in Britain, and many are the causes for international jealousy between these 27 million pooches.

HOBSON

Indeed, "fangs across the sea" is what the old phrase might turn into if pups on American soil ever get going on civil liberties for canines, and I believe there are at least 23 million American children who'd get right up on soapboxes and bark with them.

For English dogs have certain inalienable rights that American dogs don't enjoy, and the painful differences become especially obvious for London dogs as opposed to city dogs on this side of the Atlantic.

IN LONDON'S squares and parks, no law requires a leash or leader along with a dog, whereas in most cities here the cops are required to pounce down on any free-wheeling dog faster than Fido would pounce on a steak bone.

What's more, London dogs can be carried free in many city buses, and taken along on subways and railways for the most nominal of fees. And all over the British Isles, my pup tells me, dogs are allowed in hotels and restaurants along with the gentry that walk on all two's.

Any American family with children who love a mongrel, or even a champion, has gone through the headaches of arranging ways of keeping dog and child from that fate worse than death—temporary separation.

IN MY SONS' life the worst time of all comes when they are torn between their desire to pile into our car and start off on a long tour of these exciting and beautiful United States, and their black knowledge that nine out of ten motels on the road display big signs, "no dogs allowed"

In vain do I remind them that road-weary motorists would never get a wink in any motel if barking dogs were all over the place.

"There's always some old hound howling at the moon right outside the motel," they answer with splendid logic, "so what's the difference?"

BEING A SOFTIE from way back, the last time we planned to drive west I finally looked into the costs and customs of transporting animals by rail or air.

A new world opened. To fly one 18-pound scottie, in an eight-pound wood and wire cage, from La Guardia Airport in the east to International Airport in the west, costs about $25, and to ship him by rail just about half that amount.

What's more, in this pet-loving nation of ours, shipping animals is so usual, there's a whole normal routine all set up for the care and feeding of same while en route.

To the top of the cage or container you tape several cans of your little gourmet's favorite food, and at normal meal times, some kind trainman or airport attendant will set the table with the best linen and silver and feed your dog for you. They also provide him with water and a nice brisk walk.

THE TRAVEL authorities ask you to attach a large label giving the name to which the dog answers, so nobody will have to insult him with a "hey you." They also ask for another label to guide them, when they unlock that wire door. "Friendly," or "bites strangers" are the most helpful clues.

So, though British dogs may have the odds in the field of legal rights, our real push-overs for our scotties and boxers and doberman pinschers and great danes, and tough "Love, me, love my dog" is supposed to be an old Sicilian saying there must be about 23 million families who think Miles Standish or Haiwatha made it up.

Legal Battle Renewed

Supreme Court Hearing Debate Over Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for Negro parents in Virginia and South Carolina today renew before the Supreme Court the long legal battle to open all public schools to all children regardless of race.

They hope to win a decision that segregaion of Negro and white pupils is a harmful discrimination violating the Constitution. No decision is likely for several months.

Thurgood Marshall, New York City attorney who represents the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), in opening the debate before the nine justices, is prepared to assert in essence:

"Candor requires recognition that the plain purpose and effect of segregated education is to perpetuate an inferior status for Negroes which is America's sorry heritage from slavery."

John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, is prepared to reply on behalf of South Carolina:

"The right to establish separate schools for white and colored pupils—under the doctrine of separate but equal facilities—has been so repeatedly approved by the Supreme Court, by lower federal courts, and by the courts of last resort of many states, and has been so continuously exercised by congressional and state legislation, that it should be regarded as no longer open to debate."

Next, the Justice Department—presenting the views of the Eisenhower administration—will argue that the "primary and pervasive purpose of the 14th Amendment was to secure for Negroes full and complete equality before the law and to abolish all legal distinctions based on race and color"

The 14th Amendment was adopted after the Civil War, primarily for the benefit of the newly freed slaves. It says no state may deny any person due process and equal protection of the laws, nor abridge any person's privilege or immunities.

Today marks the beginning of three days of reargument called for by the high court last June. First arguments were heard over a three-day period last December, but the court was unable to reach a decision.

In addition to Virginia and South Carolina, Kansas and Delaware and the District of Columbia are directly involved. The Virginia and South Carolina cases were consolidated for reargument. The other cases will follow them.

Marion Police Report Total of 1,838 Offenses

During November, police marked up a total of 1,838 offenses of all kinds, including over time parking, compared with a total of 1,541 offenses during October, Police Chief Tom Coon reported today.

Largest single type of violation, drunkenness with 90 cases reported and 90 arrests made. Next largest was theft of property other than automobiles. Fifty such cases were reported with none solved by arrest. A total of 1,473 parking tickets were issued.

Of the eight burglaries reported, police said seven arrests were made. In the theft of four automobiles worth some $1,920, police reported one arrest.

Other types of offenses and the number of arrests were as follows: robbery, 1; assault, 1; fraud 2; weapons carrying, 1; prostitution or commercialied vice, 1; sex offenses, 1; offenses against family and children, 4; disorderly conduct, 10; vagrancy, 7; driving while intoxicated, 14; violation of road and drivers' laws, 97; traffic and motor vehicle laws, 54; others, 7; suspicious person or held for investigation, 13.

A total of 1,512 traffic tickets of all types were issued and on these police collected a total of $875 .

During the month, reports of 32 stoler bikes worth $1,115 were received and police recovered 35 bikes valued at $1,217. Some of the bikes were those stolen in previous months.

On other stolen property, the report listed the value at $4,186 with a recovery of property valued at $3,816.

There were 78 juvenile complaints received, and police ordered 12 youths to appear in Marion County Juvenile Court and issued warnings to 14 others.

Police broadcast and received 2,147 city and 114 county radio broadcasts; issued 30 bicycle licenses; handled 20 sanitation violation complaints; and served 2,680 meals to prisoners in the Marion city prison.

Bus Strike Shuts School in Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Drivers and mechanics of the Intercity Coach Lines, Inc., struck today, disrupting transportation for about 2,500 riders in Stark County between here and Massillon.

The AFL bussmen union's strike forced the closing of Central Catholic High School, according to school authorities, who said 650 of the school's 875 pupils depend on the line for transportation.

School officials said they hoped to make other arrangements for the pupils if the strike lasts until Wednesday. The school, located midway between Canton and Massillon on Rt. 30, will be closed tomorrow for a religious holiday, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

SEEK TO AVERT STRIKE

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Federal Mediator E. L. Phillips has asked company and union oficials to meet tomorrow morning in an effort to ward off a threatened bus strike which would halt Zanesville's public transportation. Fifty-three drivers and mechanics say they will walk out at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday against the Zanesville Rapid Transit Co. over a new contract dispute. The union asks a 25-cent hourly pay increase. The union offered a three-cent boost.

Mansfield Man Charged With Wife's Murder

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A Mansfield supermarket chain official charged with first-degree murder in the death a year ago of his 31-year-old wife, will be arraigned here Wednesday.

Ernest Max Sternbaum, 36, is held in the death of Mrs. Leah Sternbaum, who was found dead after a fire in a building that housed the offices of the supermarket. Her body was burned almost beyond recognition, but the coroner said she died from a blow on the head.

Sternbaum, arrested at his farm home near here Saturday, told officers two burglars knocked him unconscious in a robbery attempt, but he regained consciousness and crawled from the burning office. He said he believed they beat his wife, also.

SPIED ON REDS. The daughter of filmdom "tough guy" Barton Maclane, Mrs. Marlane Maclane Kowall of Van Nuys, Calif., tells the Subversives Activities Control board in Washington about her three years as an undercover Communist agent for the FBI. The board is conducting hearings to determine if the Jefferson School of Social Science in New York is a Red front. Mrs. Kowall, 27, said she was active in the party from 1947 till she drifted away in mid-1950.

4 Pilots Dead As Jets Crash

Believed Lost During Florida-Georgia Flight

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Four Thunderjets in tight formation shot through low-hanging clouds near here early yesterday and slammed into a pine thicket, carrying their pilots to instant death.

Officials at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, Ga., home base of the single-seater planes, theorized that they got lost in rough, rainy weather. They crashed only a few minutes before they were scheduled to land at Dobbins after an instrument flight from Miami.

The pilots, all members of the Atlanta Air National Guard unit, were identified as Capt. Idon M. Hodge Jr., 30, Atlanta; 1st Lt. Samuel P. Dixon, Chamblee; 1st Lt. Elwood C. Kent, 28, East Point; and 2nd Lt. William A. Tennent, 25, Atlanta.

Bodies of the pilots were found several hundred yards from the wreckage.

Officials estimated the jets were traveling at more than 250 m.p.h. on impact. Wreckage was scattered over a three-quarter-mile area.

APPLY FOR PASSPORTS

BUCYRUS — Applications for passports to visit Holland during the holiday season were made here this week at the office of Clerk of Courts G. William Dustman by Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Veldman and their 9-month-old son, Harry. The Veldmans, who live near Celeryville, O., came to the United Satates on an extended passport in 1952. They plan to sail from New York next Saturday to spend the holiday season with relatives in Holland after which they will return to the United States to make their home and become U. S. citizens.

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

AP Newsfeatures

Henrietta's father gives Willie, the pup, away because there is not enough food in the house to feed him. When her father tells Henrietta why he had to give Willie away, she runs away, but returns later and says she's sorry. The father decides to get Willie back, but Willie can't be found anywhere.

"I Believe It Is A Dinosauer. Our Very Lives Are In Danger."

CHAPTER FOUR

The way Willie figured i eeit-f,ft The way Willie figured it, if he was just going to be handed around from one person to another he would as soon start out on his own.

That way he would at least have some say in his own affairs and certainly wouldn't be shut up in a furnace room for maybe the rest of his life. He might even have a great adventure.

He sneezed four times in a row. "Phew! Furnace rooms'" he thought with disgust. Ever since he had escaped from that awful apartment house he had been sneezing coal dust out of his nose.

Of course, it is too bad about Henrietta," he thought as he resumed his run-away journey."I'm afraid she will miss me very much when she finds out what her father did with me. As far as that goes I shall miss her, too."

HE BEGAN to be distracted by the wonderful smells that surrounded him. "On the other hand," he told himself, "I feel that a Great Adventure awaits me.

He paused to explore the inside of an old tomato soup can. When he had licked it clean he amused himself by pushing it ahead of him down the street.

It made a lovely noise.

Some boys saw the fun and joined in. Willie chased the can and the boys chased Willie. Pretty soon Willie found himself chased right out of town. He lost the can and he lost the boys. He didn't know where he was.

He wasn't scared exactly. But he was tired and he was hungry.

He found something he thought was a good T bone but when he bit into it he found it was only a piece of tree limb. Then he thought he had gotten hold of a hunk of stew but it was only a pile of moss and no good to eat at all.

"Oh well," thought Willie. "I shall find something to eat tomorrow."

He curled himself up on some dead leaves and went peacefully to sleep.

—:—

EARLY NEXT morning, while Willie slept, there came into that part of the woods two tiny creatures named Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little. They were named like that because of their sense. Mr. Not Much did not have much sense and Mr. Very Little, had even less.

They were traveling along at a great speed on a very important errand when suddenly, Mr. Not Much, who was in front, halted and called back to Mr. Very Little.

"Alas! There is a mountain in front of us and I am too tired to climb it."

Mr. Very Little came up and stared at the mountain. "We must be very careful," he said importantly. "This is a volcano mountain. I can hear it rumbling inside. It may erupt any moment."

Just as he spoke the mountain shook itself and turned over.

Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little hurled themselves backward and hid under a mushroom.

The mountain stood up on four legs and yawned.

"Why, it's not a mountain at all!" whispered Mr. Very Little. "It's an animal. In fact, I believe it is a dinosaur and our very lives are in danger!"

—:—

THE DINOSAUR stretched itself, scratched his ear, and moved absently in the direction of the two creatures who were shivering in terror under the mushroom.

Just as the dinosaur was about to step on the mushroom Mr. Not Much screamed and Mr. Very Little screeched, "Stop! Stop!"

The dinosaur nearly fainted with surprise and fright. He stared down at the two tiny things dancing around his toes. He wasn't sure whether he should run away or whether he should just stand there and holler.

"Oh, Mr. Dinosaur," cried Mr. Not Much. "Have mercy on us!"

"Oh, Mr. Dinosaur," begged Mr. Very Little "Spare us!"

"Why, I am not a dinosaur," said Willie. "I am a puppy dog."

"A puppy dog," exclaimed the two creatures. They were ashamed and embarrassed.

"My name is Willie and I am looking for a Great Adventure."

"Why then," said Mr. Not Much eagerly,"you must come with us!"

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. Very Little, "For we are on a very important errand and I am sure it will lead to a Great Adventure."

Crestliner Sentenced To Reformatory Term

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Ernest Lee Thomas, 21, of Crestline will be taken sometime this week to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield to begin serving an indeterminate sentence for violating conditions of a probationary sentence previously given him, Crawford County Prosecutor John D. Sears, Jr., announced here today.

Thomas was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the refomatory by Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll over the weekend following his arrest here early Thursday for the theft of a car, belonging to G. F. Stone of Crestline.

Last Oct. 21, Thomas was indicted by the grand jury for the theft of a car belonging to Orville T. Lash, of Tiro, on Sept. 24 in Crestline. He was placed on two years probation on Oct. 23 at his arraignment before Judge Carroll.

Authorities said the father of Thomas filed a warrant last week against his son, charging him with the theft of his car and he was arrested by Crestline police. Later the charges were dropped and he was released.

Ohioan Joins FBI 'Most Wanted' List

WASHINGTON (AP) — An escaped gum-chewing convict who knifed his second wife to death in Chicago last March was put on FBI's "10 most wanted" list today.

He is Peter Edward Kenzik, 46, also known as Peter Edward Miller, who has a criminal record dating back 30 years. When he escaped from the London, Ohio, prison Farm in 1948, he was serving a 1-to-20 year sentence for a 1941 knife assault on his first wife at Toledo, Ohio.

The FBI said Kenzik did his first time behind bars at Ohio State Reformatory, as a sex offender, and that he has since served sentences in Ohio and New York state on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to burglary.

HELD FOR MURDER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George H. Varner will be arraigned in municipal court today on second-degree murder charges. Police say the 48-year-old night watchman shot and killed Lewis Holland Jr., 21, of Columbus Saturday when Holland parked on the used car lot where Varner was employed.

Dean Consults Rhee on Talks At Panmunjom

Passes Up Conference With Reds To Talk With ROK President

PANMUNJOM, (AP)—The chief U.S. delegate unexpectedly skipped today's negotiations with the Reds on a Korean peace conference and instead met with South Korean President Syngman Rhee at Seoul, possibly a talk over the dragging talks.

As Ambassador Arthur H. Dean talked with Rhee, aide Kenneth Young sat in for him at Panmunjom in a meeting he termed "a move forward."

Discuss All Points

Young said all points of the negotiations were discussed by both sides but gave no indication of any concrete progress.

Before Dean met with Rhee, he talked with Ellis O. Briggs, U. S. ambassador to Korea, on what Young termed urgent business. Young declined to reveal the subject of discussion.

Dean represents 16 United Nations and South Korea in the efforts to set up a peace conference. South Korea has been outspoken in its ideas on such a conference, occasionally differing with Dean's line of negotiation.

In other developments:

1. Thirty more South Korean war priosners refused to return home, making a total of 160 who have snubbed interviews with South Korean officers. Not one South Korean has returned in the five days of explanations.

2. The head of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said the Communists and the U.N. Command should decide what to do with POWs who refuse to go home if the peace conference does not meet soon.

Insist on Release Date

The UNC insists that by the truce terms they must be released as civilians on Jan. 23 even if the conference is not under way; the Reds insist that they be held until the conference discusses their fate.

The armistice terms give a conference until Jan. 22 to deal with the prisoners, but there is little indication it will get started by then.

3. Air Force Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, U. S. representative on the Joint Military Armistice Commission, accused the Communists of lying when they said all Allied war prisoners have been released or handed over to the custodian Indian command.

Lacey did not give any specific figures on how many Allied prisoners might still be in Red prison, but said: "In the face of . . . evidence I charge your side with a violation of the armistice agreement . . . (and) false statements. . ."

Red Charges Denied

He denied Red charges that the UNC had tried to intimidate the repatriation commission and that Allied "agents" had been planted in the neutral zone compounds.

Lacey said the Reds are attempting to blame everyone but themselves for a breakdown in their explanations to anti-Red Korean and Chinese POWs. More then 20,000 of the 22,600 handed over by the Allies have not been interviewed. Only 70 have been won back by the interviews.

The Reds halted their explanations in a dispute with the Indian custodian command over segregation of interviewed and uninterviewed POWs.

DIES IN AKRON

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for John Forbs, 75, who ran for state Legislature in 1934 and lost. He collapsed on a street and died on the way to People's Hospital Saturday. He was a state game protector for three years

New Yorkers have become so apathetic to municipal elections, it is claimed by one thinker, that they wouldn't even have turned out for the last one if Godfrey had been running against LaRosa.

Wedding Plans Called Off

Jack Dempsey Jilted by Rich Widow

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Estelle Auguste, who last night canceled plans to marry former heavy weight boxing champion Jack Dempsey, left today by plane for Florida.

"I wish you would tell Mr. Dempsey I have left," she said as she boarded an Eastern Air Lines plane for West Palm Beach. "I understand he wanted to sleep until 10 o'clock. Well, it's better this way, it's easier to break an engagement than get a divorce."

In Good Spirits

The rich and pretty widow appeared in good spirits.

She announced the breakup last night with a statement that "oil and water simply won't mix."

"We're just too different," she said, three days after she had announced she would marry the former boxer.

Dempsey Stalks Out

Dempsey had stalked out of Mrs. Auguste's apartment, in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel about 5 minutes before she announced the engagement was broken.

At the Mayflower Hotel, where the former world heavyweight champion is staying, a telephone operator said in answer to calls: "Mr. Dempsey is extremely tired. He has left instructions not to be disturbed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock."

Mrs. Auguste—who at 42 is 16 years younger than Dempsey—was interviewed at her hotel apartment last night, and again by telephone early today.

"I don't think there is any chance of a reconciliation—we're both so different," she said.

Asked how she reached her decision that an oil-and-water situation existed, she said:

"I always knew it, but I didn't think it would make such a vast difference until our engagement was announced. . .

Says Friends Object

"I found many of my friends would not accept him . . . I was told that if I married Jack Dempsey 'you can go with the sporting crowd. Don't bother us.'"

Mrs. Auguste said that all her life she has associated with society people—"and not cafe society."

She inherited her wealth from her second husband, H. Spencer Auguste, founder of the Commercial trust and executive of the May Co., a department store chain. He died about four years ago.

Dempsey, who had known her husband for years, proposed marriage to the widow about a year after Auguste's death.

The blonde widow said the breakup with Dempsey wasn't caused by "any one thing." She added that there were "a lot of things that got to be more and more important when we were together."

Mrs. Auguste said there was an incident—concerning movie star Kirk Douglas—which "probably ignited the whole thing" and "started us off" last night at Lindy's Restaurant.

Says Dempsey Protested

She said she told Dempsey she was inviting Douglas to visit them at Palm Beach for the Christmas holiday—after their marriage. She said Dempsey became "furious." She added that she didn't know why Dempsey was angry, and declared the invitation to Douglas was "only a friendly gesture,' and "after all, he's a nice fellow."

Mrs Auguste said Douglas had written asking her not 'to do anything" until he got here from Europe Dec. 15. Asked if that involved plans to marry Dempsey—which had been rumored before Thursday's announcement — she said that was 'anybody's guess."

Boy Lost for 10 Hours On California Peak, Safe

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Dickie Lutzoff, 8, lost for 10 freezing hours in the San Gabriel Mountains, was rescued yesterday from a Mt. Wilson cliff by three members of the Altadena Mountaineers Rescue Club. They found him perched on an old slide overlooking a 1,000-foot precipice.

Dickie said he hadn't moved from 4 pm. Saturday when he became lost until he was found.

The lad had gone into the mountains with three other youngsters but had decided to return alone by a short cut, sheriff's officers said.

Patrolmen Report 2 Auto Accidents In Morrow County

Two traffic accidents in Morrow County were reported today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. Both were one-car acciden' One is being investigated to dete mine the driver of the car.

A car owned by Lee Duty of Columbus was reported found demolished on the side of State Route 61, seven-tenths of a mile south of Fulton. Patrol reports show only that the accident happened sometime early Saturday morning

No one was in the car when it was discovered. Patrolmen have been unable to contact the owner so far. They say his car was apparently headed south and swerved off the highway into a ditch on the left side of the road.

In the other accident, a car driven by John W. Jordan, 26, of Marengo was extensively damaged in an accident at 12:30 a.m. Sunday on State Route 529, one-tenth of a mile east of Cardington.

Patrol reports show Jordan was westbound and lost control of the car, going off the right side of the road. The car struck a utility pole causing extensive damage to the front and right front end of the vehicle.

$1,500 Stolen At Galion Hall

Burglary Follows Dance at Lodge

Special to The Star

GALION — Police here are investigating a $1,500 burglary which took place Sunday morning at the Moose Lodge clubrooms.

The money was taken from a second floor office in the building sometime after a Saturday night dance at the lodge hall and 12:15 p.m. Sunday when the burglary was reported to police. A safe in the office had been pried open and the $1,500 in cash taken. Other contents of the safe were found scattered on the floor.

Police said they have not discovered how entry to the office was made.

Paul Wilhelm, secretary of the lodge, said he left the hall about 4 a.m. Sunday, and when he went into the office Sunday noon, he found the door to the office open and the safe ransacked.

Browns Bombard Giants 62-14 as Lions Clinch Tie

Ratterman Shows Way; Lou Groza Kicks 2 for Record

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Our boys were loose as a goose and strong as a moose, and just had a lot of fun out there."

So said Paul Brown after his Cleveland Browns overwhelmed the New York Giants by 62-14 yesterday for their 11th straight National Football League victory.

"It's hard to beat a team playing like the Browns were playing," Brown continued.

Stout Steve Owen, mentor of the Giants, dismised the loss — his eighth against three wins this year —with: "The Browns didn't do anything new, except make a flock of impossible catches, many of which we should have knocked down."

But that didn't explain why the Browns, who had scored only nine touchdowns in eight previous games with the Giants, broke loose for 8 six-pointers, added 2 field goals and 8 conversions by Lou Groza, and piled up their largest scoring total in 4 years of National League play.

Owen and his Giants, up to yesterday, were even with the Browns with 4 wins and 4 defeats in 8 meetings, and were only behind by 95 to 94 in scoring.

Perhaps a remark by the rotund boss of the New Yorkers before he came West last week had something to do with it. He was quoted as saying:

"Paul Brown is the greatest football coach in the world. If you don't believe it, just ask him."

Both Brown and Owen, who haven't been the friendliest foes in football, said they didn't think Steve's remark had anything to do with the outcome.

But Brown didn't pull a punch as his club amassed the 62-point total—13 more than the Browns have ever poured on any National League opponent.

George Ratterman, who has played only a few minutes since coming to the Browns last season, passed Cleveland into a 31-7 lead over the Giants during the first half as a substitute for Otto Graham, the league's No. 1 passer.

In the third period, Graham went in long enough to engineer two touchdowns in 10 plays. The first came on a 1-yard plunge by Ken Carpenter after an 8-play, 78-yard march, featuring a 45-yard pass to Darrell Brewster. The other followed with a 60-yard scoring pass to Ray Renfro.

Ratterman completed 15 of 27 for 235 yards and 3 touchdowns—2 to Brewster for 21 and 19 yards, and 1 to Carpenter for 22.

For other touchdowns Ray Renfro went 58 on a shovel pass play, and caught the 60-yard Graham pass for another; Brewster added his third marker on a 32-yarder from Renfro, and Walt Michaels raced 38-yards with a pass interception.

Groza's field goals, from 30 and 18 yards, boosted his total to 21 in 24 attempts, two over the league record he set a year ago. His league-leading scoring total is now 99.

The game here yesterday drew 40,235 fans, boosting the 6-game at-home gate to 274,671 for an average of 45,778, best in 5 years here.

Cleveland needs only to win over the Eagles in Philadelphia next Sunday to become the first National League team to go through an undefeated-untied season since the Chicago Bear did it in 1942.

The Browns had only a 20-16 edge over the Giants in first downs. They outgained the New Yorkers 106 yards to 74 on the ground and 389 to 209 through the air.

Richwood Cage Crew Falls to Morral 75-58

Morral knocked over Richwood 75-58 on the Morral floor Saturday night. The winners were forced to come from behind after a slow start.

The Richwood cagers shot their way into a 16-12 lead at the quarter mark but at the half had fallen behind 29-28. Morral raced to a 51-41 cushion at the start of the final period.

Four Morral cagers hit for double figure scoring. Topping the list was John Craycraft with 18. Following him were Junior Bell with 17, Ted Murphy with 15 and Clair Hensel with 12. Shields and Hoffman sparked the Tigers with 16 each. Coder added 14.

Morral lost four of its starting five via the foul route late in the game. Hensel left in the third and Murphy fouled out early in the final stanza. A total of 49 fouls were called during the game.

Bob Williams dumped in 24 points to lead the Morral reserves to a 46-37 win. Allen was high for the losers with 11. The Morral sophomores edged the freshmen 39-31 in the opening game.

Bucyrus Defeated In Opening Game

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus High School dropped its basketball opener here last night after a last-period rally by Port Clinton. The visitors squeezed by the 50-46 win.

Bucyrus led throughout most of the game but the Port Clinton team knotted the count once in the third period and took the lead early in the fourth.

Don Wood with 16 and Allen Jensen with 14 points topped the visitors' attack. Big gun for the Red men was Glen Butterman with 19. Roger Freshwater added 12. The Bucyrus reserves won 48-37.

Davis Cup Team Named For U.S., Belgium Play

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Capt. Bill Talbert today named a four-man United States team, including himself, to face Belgium in the Davis Cup interzone tennis final here Dec. 17-19.

The American team will consist of U.S. champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Talbert, a New Yorker. Bob Perry of Los Angeles will be sidelined.

The winner of the series will meet Australia in the challenge round Dec. 28-30.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

In three games in the east last week, Bevo Francis has proved to the basketball world the charges of his being 'nothing but a freak' were unfounded.

SHORT

Only the most stubborn fans are still insisting he has no ability although he fell below his 50.1 scoring average of last year. In his opening game at Madison Square Garden he scored "only" 32 points. His second time out in the east he dumped in 39 points against Villanova as his Rio Grande mates fell 93-92 in overtime. Saturday night he climbed to 41 markers as the Rio squad notched an 88-87 win over Providence College.

Last season, as everyone knows, Bevo racked up an amazing 1,954 points in 39 games with his top output being 116 points against Ashland, Ky., College. At the end of the season, the NCAA decided to strip Francis of his scoring record. They advanced the excuse that the team from a school with an enrollment of 94 men and women had not been playing big schools. Half of the teams, however, had been on the Rio Grande schedule 10 years ago even though they were not four-year schools.

Newt Oliver, former coach at Upper Sandusky, offered to pit his ace against the basketball world and thus far, Bevo has proved him right. Oliver has booked games with North Carolina State, Creighton, Miami and Wake Forest.

Francis fans have been confident he can carry on against the big boys. Some cage coaches view his ability with a feeling of skepticism but others admit that any person who can dump in 116 points in 40 minutes probably could make just about anyone's team.

The Villanova game not only quieted the derogatory remarks about Francis but also convinced many fans that the Rio team is no flash in the pan. One of the east's top squads was forced into an overtime before being able to down the team from "the small school from the southern Ohio hills."

Francis and Newt have recovered from the disappointment of having Bevo's record of last season taken away by the NCAA. Both summed it up by saying, "We saw the ball go through. They can't hide what happened." And this year they have started their bid to shut their critics permanently. Its the year that makes Bevo or breaks him. Most people are convinced he'll come through the test with flying colors.

Unbeaten Mark Spoiled In Refrigerator Bowl

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A third unbeaten record in football lies buried in the Refrigerator Bowl where the College of Idaho lost yesterday to Sam Houston State, 14-12. The Idahoans are the third unbeaten team to be slapped down in the six years the small college post-season game has been played.

Evansville College knocked off undefeated Missouri Valley in 1948 and undefeated Hillsdale of Michigan in 1949.

Sam Houston State's victory margin was a third quarter safety scored when end Max Whitley tackled College of Idaho's halfback Walt Jakubowski in the C.I. end zone. Fullback McNeill Moore of the Texans clinched the victory a couple of plays later by breaking away from three tacklers and sprinting 36 yards for a touchdown.

RETAINS TITLE

Bevo Draws Praise From Pair of Pro Basketball Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the fabulous basketballer from Ohio's little Rio Grande College, has professional stars Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy enthusiastic about his future.

The two members of the Boston entry in the National Basketball Assn. watched six-foot-nine Bevo score 41 points against Providence College Saturday to tie a Boston Garden college record set by Johnny O'Brien, former Seattle standout.

"What a beautiful touch that fellow has," said Cousey, and Sharman added:

"His coordination and movements are great. I like the way he handles himself physically—smooth and fast."

Michigan State's right halfback, Bert Zagers, made his first college pass a scoring one. He tossed a forward for the clinching touchdown in a 14-6 win over Michigan.

TV Fight Cards Feature Ring's Top Contenders

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Challengers for both lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and middleweight King Bobo Olson may come out of this week's top two bouts.

Wallace (Bud) Smith, the No. 1 lightweight contender from Cincinnati, and Orlando Zulueta of Cuba, the No. 2 135-pounder, collide for the fourth time Friday night at Madison Square Garden. They're all even so far, each with a win, loss and a draw. Both have been clamoring for a crack at Carter.

Smith, who has flattened five rivals in a row, is a 17-10 favorite.

The 10 p.m., EST, bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC).

Rocky Castellani, No. 2 middleweight contender from Cleveland, and Gil Turner, No. 4 from Philadelphia, face each other in the main 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena Wednesday night. It tops a fine card on the Cleveland News' Christmas Fund show. Willie Troy of Washington and Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez of Costa Rica meet in another middleweight 10.

Turner, who recently moved into the 160-pound ranks, is a surprising 8 to 5 choice.

The Castellani-Turner fray will be telecast (CBS) starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Teddy (Red Top) Davis, the No. 1 featherweight contender from Hartford, Conn., is a slight 13-10 favorite to beat young Tony de Marco of Boston in a hot New England special at the Boston Garden Saturday night. Red Top also is the New England lightweight king but his regional title won't be at stake. New England will be blacked out of the coast to coast (ABC) telecast, which starts at 9 p.m., EST.

Paddy de Marco, the No. 9 lightweight from Brooklyn, faces Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles, in the main 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. The aggressive Brooklyn billygoat is an 11 to 5 favorite over Chavez, who is making his New York debut at a main eventer. Paddy was defeated in Boston by Tony de Marco, who is no relation.

Toski Captures Wedding Gift In Cuban Play

HAVANA (AP)—Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., had everybody on his side in the Havana Country Club's invitational tournament as soon as it became known he was to marry pretty red-haired Lynn Steward at Coconut Grove, Fla., Dec. 14.

The Cubans promptly called Toski "la Bomba Atomic,' because he weighs only 130 pounds but plays a powerful game of golf.

Toski didn't let his fans down. He won the 72-hole tournament, beating 30 other professionals with a four-round total of 272. That was one stroke better than the scores turned in by Al Beselink of Grossingers, N. Y., Freddie Haas of New Orleans and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

The little New Englander put on a finish that had a touch of dramatics. His drive on the 381-yard par 4 18th hole was to the right of the fairway behind towering palm trees.

"The only way I could get from there to the green was to put a sharp slice on the ball and knock it between the palms," Toski said. "Fortunately, it came out all right."

The ball stopped 18 inches from the hole and Toski's fans cheered. He sank the putt and walked straight into the arms of Miss Steward at the edge of the green.

The victory was worth $1,500 to Toski. Beselink, Burkemo and Haas received $873 each.

Al Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., was fifth with 274. Defending champion Dutch Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., wound up with 284.

Eddie Joost, manager for the Philadelphia Athletics, broke into organized baseball with the San Francisco Missions of the Pacific Coast League in 1933.

Detroit Edges Bears; 49ers Notch Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Only the New York Giants, one of the weaker National Football League elevens, stood between the Detroit Lions and another Western Division title today.

The Lions, winners of the 1953 crown, clinched at least a tie for the division lead yesterday by defeating the Chicago Bears 13-7. By winning, they maintained their one-game margin over the San Francisco 49ers, who walloped the Green Bay Packers 48-14.

If yesterday's performance by the Giants means anything, Detroit is a cinch to win next weekend. The New Yorkers were the victims in Cleveland's 11th straight victory as the Eastern Division champions compiled their highest total in four years 62-14. The championship game is scheduled for Dec. 27 on the field of the Western Division leaders.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Steelers downed the winless Chicago Cardinals 21-17 and the Washington Redskins blanked the Philadelphia Eagles 10-0. Los Angeles swamped Baltimore 45-2 Saturday. However, yesterday's Detroit victory mathematically eliminated the Rams from the Western Division race.

Doak Walker and Bobby Layne were the big guns in the Detroit attack. Walker kicked a pair of field goals and Layne uncorked a touchdown pass to Dorn Dibble. The Bears, hammed in by the Lions' bruising line play, waited until the final two minutes for their lone score, resulting from an 11-yard pass from Tommy O'Connell to Ed Macon.

The 49ers had an easy time of it against the Packers. They scored two touchdowns in the first and third periods, and singles in the second and final quarters.

Brown's Will To Win, Determination Are Driving Forces in Football Career

(Editor's note: Once again the Cleveland Browns are in the finals for the pro football championship. Why, for more than 20 years, have high school, college and pro teams coached by Paul Brown always been at the top? This is the first of four stories turning the spotlight on Brown and the Browns' success.)

By MILES A. SMITH

CLEVELAND (AP)—Paul Brown is the sort of David who could not be satisfied merely with slaying a Goliath.

Ere the giant had been buried, this David would have been organizing and drilling his fellow tribesmen into a slingshot brigade. It's two to one they would have driven the Philistines out of the valley, even unto the hills.

Not that the coach of the Cleveland Browns is a midget. In his well modulated business clothes, almost always in blending shades of brown, he stands 5 feet 11. His weight, now that he is 45, is 160. You might spot him in a crowd as a well established professional man. Probably a lawyer, for that is what the young Brown had in mind if coaching had not gotten into his blood.

He has been pretty bald for some years, and he has a rather pointed nose and long jaw. His eyes catch your attention. They are quick. They are both friendly and penetrating. They flash quick changes of expression and meaning. Their color seems to be black, although actually it is gray.

What few people realize is that the pupils of Brown's eyes are abnormally large, giving him remarkable vision. "I can see a lot," he explains, "and I can see a long way. My eyes are the best physical equipment I have."

Although Brown's stature is normal, there is a lot of the "Little David" theme in his playing days. In his last high school year his weight got up to 135, and in his last college year to 151, but most of his playing days he had to prove himself against heiftier opponents.

Picture a spindly kid, not quite 14 and weighing little more than 100, ready to enter Washington High School in Massillon. There was football in his blood. He used to sneak into high school games via the fence across the Tuscarawas River. But his father knew he was too light to play. However, in that summer of 1922 the kid could think of nothing but Coach David B. Stewart's football camp for the high school boys at Turkeyfoot Lake. The kid couldn't sleep, and he couldn't eat.

Finally one hot August afternoon a car wheeled around the lake, bearing a distraught father and a scared but determined kid. The father strode up to Coach Stewart. With a gesture of finality and desperation, he cried out:

"Take him, if for nothing more than a water boy. He's driving us crazy."

There may have been a wink from the understanding coach. Years later Brown was to say: "Dave Stewart was wonderful. He gave me a love of football and of winning. He happened to be a bachelor, and he became sort of a football father to me."

Bucky Brown, weighing 130 by the time he was a junior, was a smart quarterback his last two years in high school on a team that won nearly all of its games. As a senior, his mind was so close to Stewart's the coach even let him decide on player substitutions.

Brown went to Ohio State University as a freshman, was promptly ignored, and transferred to Miami University at Oxford. His junior and senior years he was varsity quarterback, punter, safety man and principal passer. He tasted victory in 13 games out of 17.

A lot of people know the Cleveland Browns won every championship in the old All America Conference 1946 through 1949, the National League title in 1950, and division championships since then. They may remember Brown's 15-5-2 record in two years at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. And his "Coach of the Year" title with his Big Ten champions at Ohio State in 1942, the middle year of his three at Columbus.

But of course it was in nine years (1932-1940) at his old home town of Massillon that Brown learned his trade and made his mark. Folks marveled that his teams won 80, tied 2 and lost only 7. But that was merely the end result.

They all call Brown a "great organizer." If that is the word for it, he organized Massillon to the hilt. Washington High, with a student body of about 1,500, had won one game the year before Brown came back, had a stadium seating 5,000, and its football finances were in the red. The three junior high schools had football coaches who used different systems, different techniques, different ideas.

His first year (the team record was 5-4-1) Brown began selling his ideas to the school officials, the board of education and the town. The second year there was a slight distraction when the basketball team suddenly was dumped in his lap (his basketballers went to the state tournament) but he kept on with his organizing.

After about three years, he had his system. The four junior high coaches were his handpicked assistants. They taught their boys the Brown fundamentals, the Brown plays. If he was going to need tackles shortly, they developed tackles. It was a farm system with a bang.

"The point is," Brown will tell you now, "we got men of the caliber of Carroll Widdoes for the junior highs."

Widdoes went with Brown to Ohio State, succeeded him there as coach, and then moved to Ohio University at Athens.

In the final 6 years at Massillon, Brown's teams played 60 games, had 1 loss and 1 tie, took 6 state championships, and outgrew a new stadium seating 21,000.

Small wonder that a great many members of the Ohio High School Coaches Assn. helped give him a big push into the Ohio State job. Not to get rid of him—Massillon still goes on winning—but to put him where they could send him their graduates, as they pointedly told the Ohio State trustees.

So the Little David of Massillon had "organized" even his rival. It takes more than a Goliath to beat Paul Brown.

Barons, Mercurys Divide Weekend Hockey Action

Both Notch 5-2 Victories; Marion Remains in 4th

The Marion Barons and Toledo's Mercurys split a pair of weekend in the International Hockey League championship race.

The Mercs notched a 5-2 decision Saturday night at their home rink and the Barons won by the same score before a crowd of 3,216 fans Sunday afternoon at the Coliseum. The Saturday night game was one of the roughest this year in the IHL. A total of 58 minutes was spent in the penalty box.

Hold Fourth Place

Results of the weekend games left the Barons in fourth place, four points behind the third-place Troy Bruins and seven points away from the league leading Cincinnati Mohawks.

The Toledo visitors threatened to repeat the Saturday night game here yesterday. The Mercs spurted to a 1-0 lead in the first period when Bill Mitchell batted in a rebound after Roy Hammond had missed a shot at the Marion goal. Toledo's goal tender, Bill Tibbs meanwhile was shutting out the Barons for the first 20 minutes. He was credited with 13 saves in that period.

Mitchell's score came after seven minutes and 47 seconds had passed. Ted Lebioda wasted little time in getting the Barons back into the game in the second period. He scored after only 51 seconds with assists going to Steve Brklacich and Hal Jones. Chuck Wood came back at the 2:38 mark to belt a score past Lou Crowdis. He was assisted on the play by Bill Lynn and Del St. John, a former member of the Marion team.

Wimpy Jones Scores

After Wood's goal had pushed the Mercs into a 2-1 lead, Wimpy Jones hit for a score at 3:42. Jones' score was made when he reached over a pileup in front of the net to shove the disc in. He was unassisted. The third Marion goal in the second period gave the Barons the lead for keeps. Kenny Schultz scored and was assisted by Coach Ott Heller and Tony Poeta. Three shots had been batted away by Tibbs before the pileup occurred.

Butch Delmonte scored the first of two insurance tallies in the third period. His goal came after 5:04 had elapsed and an assist went to Wimpy Jones. Heller scored the final tally les sthan a minute later. He hit from the point at the 5:39 marker and was unassisted.

Doug McCaig, coach of the Toledo club left the game midway in the fourth period. He was struck in the face when Ted Lebioda drove the puck toward the goal from just over the Marion blue line. An examination revealed his nose had been fractured.

The game Sunday showed a marked reduction in the number of penalties. Only 10 two-minute penalties were called, five against each team.

Toledo scored its first goal after a minute and 20 seconds Saturday night. Mitchell scored on a pass from Bill Booth. Before the period ended, Cunningham added a goal to push the Mercs into a 2-0 lead.

Vitale Scores

Marion's first score came late in the second period after Bill Lynn and Booth had added scores for the Mercurys. Phil Vitale battled in the first Baron goal after a combination pass from Dutch Delmonte and Murray Wilkie.

In the second period, the game began to get rough. At the 13:22 mark, Wilkie and Delmonte were sent to the box for roughing along with Toledo's Pontarollo. Two other two-minute penalties were charged against the Barons, one to Wilkie.

Ken Schultz scored the Barons final goal after 2:25 had passed in the final period. He was assisted by Hal Jones. Lemoine came up with Toledo's final tally after 10:42 with assits from Wood and St. John.

Thirty-seven minutes in penalty time were assessed in that period as both teams erupted into violence. Hal Jones started the parade with a two-minute rest for elbowing after 2:56 but before the period was over, Novak and Delmonte had been handed five-minute penalties for fighting as were Wilkie and McCaig. Steve Brklacich was banished from action at the 17:32 mark with a misconduct penalty.

That call was made after Brklacich took a swing at a fan. Lou Crowdis took another swing, this one at the public address announcer. Wilkie, after fighting with McCaig at the 16:32 mark got into a struggle with Wood, who was already in the box.

A total of 1,943 watched the scraps.

Marion will play host to Troy Wednesday night at 8:30 and next Sunday at 3 p.m., Grand Rapids will move into the Coliseum. Immediately preceding the game Sunday, Miss Anne Gillis will appear for a short figure skating exhibition.

Meyers Pumps Reach Finals Of Y Tourney, Down Delaware

Myers Pumps moved into the finals of the YMCA invitational basketball tournament Saturday by defeating the Peoples Store of Delaware 69-57. The Ashland five will meet the winner of the Pythian Drug-Green Camp Elevator game later this week. Green Camp and the rangy Columbus squad are scheduled tonight in the Y's south gymnasium floor.

Meyers took an 18-13 lead at the first quarter mark and walked off the floor at half time holding a four points 37-33 spread. Meyers opened up the gap in the third period by roliing in 15 points to Peoples 9 to enter the final eight minutes with a 10-point margin to work on.

Bob Harris and Jack Cooper led the Meyers scoring by dropping in 17 and 13 points.

The YMCA Basketball Committee announced today the regular league play would begin next Monday with a three-game card. A meeting of managers has been called by Howard Gilbert, chairman of the basketball program, for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to outline a major change in the basketball schedule for the coming year.

Midget Grapplers Slated in Tag Bout

A midget tag team match features the Thursday night wrestling card at the armory.

Karl Kruger of Germany and Sallie Halasie of Ethiopia are matched against Tiger Jackson of New York and Mitey Schultz of Germany.

In a return match, the Masked Marvel and Jim Lewis will go at it. Last Thursday when both these grapplers squared off, the Masked Marvel kicked off the ropes and pinned Lewis' shoulders down for the match with only five minutes remaining. Many of the fans thought the Marvel's shoulders were also down.

Both the matches are scheduled for three falls.

The opening match at 8:30 p.m. will pit Ricky Waldo against Mr. Satan.

Man Wants 'To Clear' Conscience of Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 32-year-old man walked into the Columbus police station yesterday and sai dhe wanted to clear his conscience of the murder of a buddy in a CCC camp in Utah "15 or 16 years ago."

He said he strangled an 18-year-old friend after an argument over a bottle of wine. He said he dumped the body into a ditch, and since then has wandered over the country, without home or permanent occupation.

Capt. Louis J. Capretta said he doubted the man's story, but booked him for investigation and sent a query to Utah, Capretta refused to identify the man.

FACES INQUEST

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Annie Ruth Collier, 25, will face a coroner's inquest tomorow in connection with the death of Henry Simmons, 27, of New Miami. Simmons was stabbed to death Saturday, police said, in a lovers' quarrel. Mrs. Collier was charged with second degree murder.

Major League Owners Begin 3-Day Session

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the big league players' major demands—boosts in pension benefits, elimination of the 30-day release clause and an increase in minimum wages from $5,000 to $7,200—were expected to be rejected by the club owners at their three-day meeting starting today.

Other player requests, such as elimination of night games in spring training and on getaway days during the regular season, increase in meal money on the road, lowering of veteran's status from 10 to 8 years, no twi-night double-headers, monetary allowance for players living away from hotel during spring training, and other lesser demands likely will be granted.

High on the agenda is the recommendation by baseball's five-man Executive Council last Sept. 29 that a committee be named to consider terminating the pension plan. The multimillion-dollar plan, cause of one of the biggest player-owner disputes in years, popped back in the news last night when Ralph Kiner of the Chicago Cubs, National League player representative, said the owners had never presented any resolution to end the plan.

Kiner and Allie Reynolds of the League player representative, met with player spokesmen of all 16 clubs last Tuesday. But the council's recommendation on the pension plan wasn't made public until Wednesday, and then only after Kiner and Reynolds walked out on a conference with Commissioner Ford Frick. The players said they left because their lawyer, J. Norman Lewis, wasn't allowed to attend the meeting.

"The statement the owners made that they had a resolution to end the pension plan and that Allie Reynolds and I had failed to notify the players about this resolution is a complete falsehood," Kiner said.

"Never at any time did the owners make such a resolution. At our Atlanta meeting Mr. J. Norman Lewis, our attorney, assured the 16 player representatives that there was no chance of the pension plan being dropped."

Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox and a member of the Executive Council, made it clear that the magnates are not going to decide at the meetings here whether to retain or drop the pension plan. They simply will consider the Executive Council's recommendation.

Do you have "hand-me-down" insurance? Remember when you were a kid and you automatically acquired hand-me-down clothes to wear.

You may be going at the task of securing proper insurance protection in the same manner. Taking over policies that were written for others or for different conditions.

Earl J. Andrews

For example, in buying a home, the insurance is usually transferred. Are you sure that you have what you want, or is it merely a hand-me-down that you have assumed will fit?

Likewise conditions change and require changed coverages or amounts. For instance, do you have ample insurance based on today's inflated values? Or, was your policy merely renewed with no change on a hand-me-down basis.

We are insurance TAILORS. With an experienced eye, we can tell whether the hand-me-downs still fit. If not, we can show you just how they should be altered.

Please consult us on your insurance problems. You'll receive professional counsel and assistance. We will tailor an insurance program for you—one with complete protection at the lowest possible cost. Phone 2-3127.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

It's a Tough Life

Virtually everybody in the country thinks he can write a better television script than the ones he sees — and a great many go ahead and try. Some 45 to 55 scripts a week, 60 to 90 pages long, are received by Philco - Goodyear Playhouse alone.

J. CROSBY

The story editor, a patient girl, tient girl Theresa Lewis, plows through them all and then, inevitably, sends nearly all of them back with little notes as to why they're unacceptable. Many are, she says, terribly over-plotted. Some would require the combined resources of Metro Goldwyn Mayer and RKO to produce. (After all, Philco is live television.

The first requirement — one which is ignored surprisingly by the pros and even literary agents —is to watch the show. A person who does pay careful attention to the Philco Playhouse will discover that Philco likes careful and fairly deep characterization. They can't afford Humphrey Bogart over there — so if there is a tough guy role it better be deep and convincing enough to stand on its own feet.

Rarely, do they do farce. A New Yorker writer submitted a farce which was a perfectly good farce —except that they don't like farce. The writer had never seen the show.

The sort of shows Philco DOES are "Bachelor Party" or "Marty" in which there isn't a great deal of plot but something happens to the characters.

JUST WHY ANYONE wants to be a TV dramatic writer is beyond mortal comprehension. The work is terribly hard; the pay is not much. The basic minimum for a one-hour show like Philco's is $800. Philco never pays less than $1,200 and frequently pays more. Philco has been the top-paying show but U.S. Steel may now be paying more. Still, Fred Coe, the producer, points out you can make more money in almost any other line of work — even if a writer sells every script he writes. (Few of them do.)

A single script for Philco usually chews up 10 weeks of a writer's time. First the writer gets an idea. He writes an outline and submits it. If it is accepted, he writes the script. Scripts run 50 minutes, which is just 20 minutes shorter than a movie.

He may have to rewrite the script once or several times. He has to be on call during 10 days of rehearsal for possible rewrite. So, a writer who does five scripts, one right after another, would end a 50-week work year with $7,500 before taxes.

YOU HAVE TO WANT terribly to see your stuff on the air to put up with it. Still, Coe recognizes—and may be the only producer who does — that TV drama depends entirely on the writer and that something has to be done about him to insure a steady supply of literate dramas. He has solved Philco-Goodyear's problem by hiring eight writers whose work he likes and guaranteeing them a certain amount — which varies from writer to writer — for 40 weeks work.

This is one of the few stables of writers in television and it has been conspicuously successful. Typical of the stable is Tad Mosel who had been selling tickets for Northwest Airlines when he first wrote for Philco. Mosel was reluctant to quit his job for the uncertainties of TV writing but Coe persuaded him to do so with his guarantee of a year's work.

The other seven are: Horton Foote, whose Philco drama "A Trip to Bountiful" was expanded to a three-act play for Broadway; Paddy Chayevsky, N. Richard Nash, David Shaw, Robert Alan Arthur, Sumner Locke Elliott and Harry Muheim — who, between them, turn out about 30 of the 52 scripts a year.

OF COURSE, a writer sells the right to do his play only once live. (If kinescopes are made, they must be shown within 60 days.) After that the author is free to sell his play over again to the same producer — or a year later, to sell it to anyone. Eventually, these repeat rights might be a profitable sideline for writers. At the moment, though, it doesn't happen very often.

Body Found Along NYC Tracks Near Springfield

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Williams County Sheriff Howard Zuver is investigating the death of Eli Cohn, 45, of Hartford, Conn., whose body was found along the New York Central Railroad right-of-way three miles east of Stryker yesterday.

Cohn, a barber and recent arrival in the United States from Romania, apparently fell from an eastbound passenger train during the night, the sheriff reported.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORLANDO McDOWELL and JEAN McDOWELL, who reside at 107 Second Avenue, Hinton, West Virginia, will take notice that on the 4th day of December, 1953, the Plaintiff, Sadie B. McDowell, filed her petition against them and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, as Case No. 32211.

The object and prayer of said petition is for a finding and declaration that the said Defendant, Orlando McDowell, holds the title to the real estate hereinafter described in trust for Plaintiff; that his wife, Jean McDowell, has no interest therein; for an order of the Court requiring said Defendants, Orlando McDowell and Jean McDowell, to convey said real estate to Plaintiff by proper deed of conveyance; and for such other relief and orders as may be just and equitable in the premises.

Said real estate is described as follows:

Situated in the City of Marion, in the County of Marion, and in the State of Ohio, and known as being the north one-half (½) of Lot Number Ten (10) in Blaich's Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio, except a strip three (3) feet in width off the south side thereof; said real estate being located at 680 N. Main St., Marion, Ohio.

Said Defendants are required to answer said Petition by the 30th day of January, 1954, or judgment will be taken against them.

Buy Me and Move Right In

I am located close to the new high school on one of Marion's better residential streets. I am vacant to settle an estate. I have been pampered and given the best of care. I have good paint and am well decorated. I have nice sized rooms and hardwood floors down. I have three bedrooms and a full dry basement. I also have a brand new automatic gas furnace, a nice lot and good garage. My owners are going to unload me and they're not going to hold me for a high price any longer. I believe you could buy me with a very reasonable offer. So hurry and come and see me.

IS THIS YOUR HOUSE??

LINCOLN AVE.—Approximately 200' from East Center. You don't need a car in this location, but if you have one it won't have to set out in the snow and rain. When you see it, you'll say, "IT'S SUCH A PRETTY HOUSE! — wonder what it's like on the inside?"—An aluminum awning graces the entrance. You step into a half way with convenient guest closet. At first glance you immediately realize that THIS IS NOT THE ORDINARY TYPE OF OLDER HOME. An ambitious family has expressed its individualty in the tasteful combination of paint and wall paper. The living room is restful and inviting; the dining room makes you want to sit down and eat; the kitchen leaves nothing to be desired with its wall and base cabinets, built in automatic washer and breakfast nook. Up-to-date electric wiring eliminates blown fuses. From the dining room, you go upstairs and find a MASTER BEDROOM WITH TWIN CLOSETS. Another nice size bedroom and a nursery. The bathroom has new fixtures with built-in tub and shower. Coming back down again, we find a partially enclosed back porch off the kitchen which makes an ideal utility room. The back yard is completely fenced in for children's safety and in the summer there is a profuse variety of climbing roses and blooming plants. LARGE NEW TYPE WINDOWS in living room and dining room slide on channels and come out easily for indoor cleaning. Last, but not least, a most important item: AUTOMATIC GAS HEAT. This home has had a heap of loving care and for the family that wants all the advantages of a new home but doesn't want to go overboard, price wise. Our whole staff recommends this home as THE BUY OF THE WEEK. It will G.I. It will F.H.A. This will be the finest Christmas present you can give your family. Stop buying a house for your landlord, Phone 2-1572 to see this right now.

GOLLY, ZERO— THIS IS WHAT THE HANDYMAN CALLS ANOTHER INSIDE DAY—
HE MEANS THAT OUTSIDE WORKERS CAN'T WORK AT ALL UNLESS THEY KNOW HOW TO BE INSIDE WORKERS TOO—LIKE OUR HANDYMAN IS— HE'S TERRIBLE SMART—
WHEN IT'S RAINY, HE WORKS INSIDE THE HOUSE—HE LOOKS OUT THE WINDOW AN' SINGS "I'M SINGIN' OUTA THE RAIN"— THEN HE LAUGHS AN' LAUGHS—
BUT WHEN IT'S DARK AN' RAINY, I'M KINDA SCARED TO STAY INSIDE THAT OLD HOUSE— MR. COBB SAYS THERE AIN'T ANY GHOSTS OR GOBLINS—I KNOW THAT'S TRUE, BUT MY SHAKY, GOOFY KNEES DON'T!

Fire Instructions Must Be Followed by Nurses

SYDNEY, Australia (UP) — Nurses at the ex-servicemen's hospital at Concord can't say they have not been warned, if there's ever a fire.

Notices in the girls' quarters carry detailed fire emergency instructions, ending with a grim "Anyone failing to comply with this regulation will be burnt to death or discharged from the staff."

Quipped the national Australasian Post magazine "In a nutshell, any offender will be fired, one way or another."

TWO HITS

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP) — Eugene Ferrara shrugged it off when a passing motorist hit the left rear fender of his parked automobile here. Damage was slight. However, another driver did a more thorough job 10 minutes later. Damage $80.
